ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am happy to present the thesis ‘Articulating the Discovery of the Self- a Critical Study of the Autobiographies of Some Indian Women in English’ to the university of Pune for the Ph.D. degree.

I will always remain extremely grateful to Prof. Dr. Mrs. Kalpana Wandrekar, my research-guide, for the kind assistance and valuable guidance she gave me during the period of this research. Even though it took a long time to finish with the research due to some occupational or other kinds of hazards, she patiently bore with it.

I owe sincere thanks to the staff of Jaykar library of the university of Pune as well as the Jawaharlal Nehru library of the university of Mumbai, H.P.T.College of Arts and R.Y.K.College of Science, Nashik for allowing me to make abundant use of their books.

I would also like to thank my dear wife Rutuja and son Ashish- who bore with my long absences at home during the period of this research.

Mr. J. N. Nandurkar