ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am grateful to numerous local and global “peers” who have contributed towards completion of this thesis and supported me in one way or the other during this astounding journey.

First and foremost, I am heartily thankful to my excellence mentor & supervisor, Chairman & Professor Mohinder Chand, Department of Tourism & Hotel Management, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra, whose encouragement, guidance and support from the initial to the final level facilitated me to develop and understanding of the research subject. His willingness to motivate me contributed enormously to this research work. In fact, he has created a lifelong impression by his kindness, affections and generosity. I thank him for providing me with the opportunity to work with as a scholar.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to Dr. Amit Mathur, Assistant Professor at Directorate of Distance Education, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra for generously sharing his time and knowledge in research work on building an underpinning knowledge from time to time. He has played a major role in making me understand the concept of discrete-event simulation.

I would like to thank the other faculty members of the department Prof. Manjula Chaudhary, Dean ,Faculty of commerce & management, Prof. Ravi Bhusan Kumar, Prof. S.S. Boora, Dr. Surjeet kumar and Dr. Dinesh Kumar for their encouragement, insightful comments to improve the research.

I am also indebted to Dr. Ankush Ambardar, Assistant Professor at Department of Tourism and Hotel Management, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra who has been a constant source of encouragement and enthusiasm during this research.

Completion of this doctoral thesis was possible with the support of several people. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to several language speaking tour guides/escorts for their unconditional help during data collection. Also, I would like to thank the participants in my survey, who have willingly shared their precious time during the process of data collection.
I owe a lot to my parents, who encouraged and helped me at every stage of my personal and academic life, and longed to see this achievement come true. I deeply miss my father, who is not with me to share this joy; I will devote my Doctorate’s Degree to my beloved father Late Shri Randhir Singh.

Last, but not least, I would also like to dedicate this thesis to my family, my wife Ms. Yashoda and daughters Sneh and Avni, for their love, patience, and understanding—they allowed me to spend most of the time on this thesis.

Above all, I owe it all to Almighty God for granting me the wisdom, health and strength to undertake this research task and enabling me to its completion.

SUNIL KUMAR
(01-UC-552)