Acknowledgement

I am very grateful to my supervisor Dr. Dhruv Raina whose valuable insights, attention and support have given me strength to complete this doctoral thesis.

I owe a great deal to Prof. K. K. Trivedi, under whose guidance I completed my M. Phil dissertation and Prof. Deepak Kumar who gave me valuable advice as and when needed during the course of my work. I sincerely thank Dr. S. Irfan Habib who has been kind enough to give me time and clear my doubts on the language issue and the growth of Muslim educational institutions in NWP and Oudh in the late nineteenth century.

I thank ICHR for the award of a JRF during my Ph. D and JNU for financial assisting my field trip.

My special thanks to Prof. Bipin Chandra, Prof. Bimal Prasad (the late), Prof Anand Kumar, Prof. Peter Robb, Prof. K. N. Pannikar, Prof. Alok Rai, Prof. Bhagwan Josh, Prof. Salil Mishra for their timely academic advice. I am especially grateful to Dr. Akhlaque Ahan who helped me read a few Urdu texts and also raised questions on the Hindi-Urdu controversy.

I have greatly benefited from my conversations and discussions with teachers, students and alumni of BHU during my trips to Banaras, Allahabad, and Lucknow. I have gained a lot from my conversations with Rai Anand Krishna, Prof. Sukdev Singh, Prof. Sushila Singh, Prof. S. Mishra, Prof. S. R. Faruqi, Shri Giridhar Malaviya, Prof. Narlekar, R. C. P. Sinha, S. Somaskandanji, Pandit Shiv Kumar Shashtri, Nilaabh Ashq, Babu Prabhu Narayan Singh (Babu Prabhu ji), Dr. Priyankar, Naval Kishore ji and many other professors at BHU. Their knowledge of the politics and culture of NWP and Oudh, and Pandit Malaviya and BHU have contributed to my understanding of the social history of the region. I am indebted to the teachers of BHU for their patience and cooperation extended to the study. They enriched my knowledge about the life in BHU, the curriculum and functioning.

I thank Dr. Vishwanath Pandey for helping me at BHU during my long stays on campus. My sincere thanks to the alumni of BHU, in particular to Ambrish Singh, and Kanchana Singh, who knew the life of BHU in the 1970s and 80s. I would also like to thank all those who facilitated my work during my field trips that included local informants, guides, historians, political and religious activists, alumni of BHU.
I could not have even completed this work but for the help of the library staff at India Office Library and British Library, London; SOAS Library; National Archives, Nehru Memorial Library (Teen Murti), Delhi; Banaras Hindu University Central Library, Bhartiya Kala Bhawan, Banaras; Nagari Pracharani Sabha, Banaras and Delhi; Mahamana Malaviya Mission, Delhi; Mahamana Foundation, Banaras; Allahabad State Archives, Allahabad; Hindi Sahitya Sammelan, and Hindustani Academy, Bhartiya Bhawan Pustakalaya, Allahabad; Lucknow State Archives, Lucknow; Allahabad University Library, Allahabad; Jawaharlal Nehru Library, Delhi; Delhi University Central Library, Delhi etc.

My family and friends have been of immense support during the different phases of my research. I am deeply grateful to Shaheen, Ifat, Seema, Shiv, Prashant, Gokularani, Pallavi and Sweta Sinha.

Last but not the least I thank my parents, brothers, sister Swati, Rohit and his parents who have really encouraged me on all fronts, financially and emotionally. But for them I could not have completed this work.
