ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all I would like to thank the Almighty Allah for His blessings that he has given me strength and courage to complete this thesis. It takes so much love and support to make one person to achieve one’s dream and expressing my gratitude is the least I can do for those who helped me along the way. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my Ph. D. supervisor Dr. Vibha Sharma for having introduced me to the works of Mahasweta Devi and for her generous support throughout the writing process. She was relentless when required and gentle always. Her reading and suggestions were invaluable to the completion of this work. She has been a mentor to me throughout my graduate studies and postgraduate studies.

Very special thanks to Prof. Asif Shuja, Chairman, Department of English for facilitating me with all the necessary things in the process of completing my research. I would also like to give special recognition and gratitude to Dr. Rizwan Khan. His words of advice have always been helpful and enlightening. My special gratitude also goes to Prof. A. S. Dasan, Mysore University, who offered perceptive criticism and suggestions at my discussion with him that later proved extremely valuable. I would also like to thank Dr. Sablul Haque, D.N.C. College, Aurangabad, W.B. and Dr. Raihan Raza, Department of English, AMU, for their insights which were really helpful.

I happily acknowledge my debt to the librarians and staffs of National Library, Kolkata, and Sahitya Akademy, New Delhi, for their immense help and support in searching invaluable material and for providing me special permission to acquire those materials.
I would particularly like to thank my friends, whose affection and support meant a great deal to the accomplishment of this work. I am especially thankful to Sohel Aziz, Mohosin Mandal, Nisar Ahmed, Indranil Sengupta, Abhishek, Sunij Sharma, Irfan Ilahi and Mohsin Khan, who listened to my views and helped me a lot through discussion we had had over the years. I also would like to extend my special thanks to Zainab Khan, Beenish Naqvi, Kusumika, Waheeda Firdous, Mir Nurul John, Wasim Anjum, Khalik Ali, Shahnawaz Rahman, Shafiq Ahmed, Abdul Mabud, Meraj Khan, Imran Khan, Masud Alam, Faizan Ahmed, Asgar Ali, Ashaduzzaman, Waliul Alam, Sharjeel, Manwar Ali, who have always been standing by my side when I need them and encouraged me to complete this thesis.

I want to thank all of my family members for their belief, love and support over the years. Especially, my parents have shown me greatness of love and always supported me with their deepest understanding. Special thanks and gratitude to my beloved, Nilofar Yasmin, who helped me emotionally at the time of frustration, and is an inspiration to me always; without her encouragement and positive attitude I could not have completed this. I want to express my deepest gratitude, which no words can adequately express to all those who have helped me in recognizing my potential. If it were not for their unwavering love and encouragement, I would not have reached this stage.
