ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

My hand, head and heart is full of fervor to offer thanks to my supervisor Prof. M. H. Qureshi. He is, an erudite gentleman with a decisive manner but a kindly heart; he is an excellent speaker and possesses the ability to inspire us with his own enthusiasm. He penetrates through the dim mist of thousands of years and transforms the mythical memory of Bhagwat Gita, Holy Koran and Biblical story into a living reality with equal easiness. During the long and studious hours of doctoral research his presence inspired me with enthusiasm and difficulty vanished like the dark at the day break. Prof. Qureshi’s trademark humour never allowed me to feel that research is monotonous. I may not imagine a better mentor, I must admit.

The timely financial assistance from ICSSR in the form of scholarship has helped me to overcome one of the major constraints of research.

The staff of CSRD: Mr. Verghese, Ms Sheesh, Mr Sagar and Ms Sunita deserve a special vote of thanks. Prof P M Kulkarni’s advise to deal with the data was a great support. Various libraries of Jaisalmer, Jodhpur and Bikaner, British Council and the IGNOU helped in developing the theoretical framework for the study and need a special mention.

I would like to thank Bhamu and Mamta Mishra who shared their precious time to help me complete the field survey. Suneeta didi, your short stay in Bikaner became a blessing for my field work in that area.

Rakesh Saini the guruji and GIS expert, Abhinav, Narendra, Akmal, Shantesh, Sumeet are few of my juniors who helped me moving ahead with the research work. My friends Hemis, Adona, Bhaskara, Zarin, Deepti, Mania, Abhayindu, Nitin, Manish, Sushant, Bikramaditya, Shweta, Chhuti, Partha, Amit Chhip have been an unsaid support throughout the stay at JNU. Dr Nitin your presence in Delhi never made me feel away from the family. When all roads led to a dead end... Saroj K Rath was always there. And what should I write about you... ‘Fulli’... Mr Rubal Walia I can’t believe it that you are really with me here... helping me in the most stressful time. Thanks a lot for being what you are. My batchmates... we started in a huge group and now only a few of us are left here. It’s nice to see all of us submitting the thesis at last. Manish, Amit, Abhay, Vishal, Mahesh, Paromita, Sreoshi, Taruna, I thank you all for providing me with necessary advise and support in time of need.

My hostel friends made me feel at home in the hostel. What would I do without you all around? Firstly the computer expert of the floor ‘Priya: doctor for all the viruses’, Sarmishtha the statistician, Rachna, Sonu, Deepika, naughty Shireen, advisor Papori, caring Anuja, net savvy Kiran, Aarthy, Archhu, Fausiya... I’ll always regret not being able to spend much time with you, Chandan and Sudipti..... your smiling faces and always approachable nature has supported me immensely during the good and bad times of my stay in the hostel. Thank you all very much.

Words are not enough to thank all my family members and their encouragement. My parents, my brothers Himanshu, Vishal, Prashant and Shantanu and my sisters-in-law Ameeta and Preeti were always there for me. Nikki and Marshal my emotional support system. Your wait is finally over and this thesis is becoming a reality now. I would like to thank God for giving me a chance to take this endeavor.

\[\text{(SHWETA GAUR)}\]