ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Words cannot adequately express my gratitude and regards for my teacher Dr Om Singh. He educated me about the critical analysis and evaluation of subject matter and also made me realize that having a balanced outlook, in general, is extremely vital. My attempts to achieve these are very much influenced by his wisdom. He also made me realize that perfection in the presentation of work is as important as accomplishing the task with a rational approach.

I am extremely grateful to Prof GP Talwar for his constant encouragement. He has always been a beacon of inspiration. I always admire his enthusiasm and zeal. Dr Rahul Pal has not only been a genuinely helpful co-guide, but this long stretch in the laboratory would have been quite unimaginable without his cheerful and optimistic disposition and good sense of humour. He has always been willing to help and offer his intelligent and thoughtful suggestions whether it be for the planning of an experiment or analysis of experimental results.

I am grateful to Dr VS Chauhan, Dr D Salunke and Sushama Nagpal for their help in peptide synthesis, to Dr R Anand for his encouragement and moral support and Dr Majumdar for last minute help.

I do not know how I would have managed these four and a half years were it not for all the help, cheer and affection extended by Kailash, Dayanand, Ram Singh, Ramesh and Ashok. Sutapa and Amshree maintained a cheerful atmosphere in the laboratory. Sutapa's rare humour was refreshing in moments of fatigue. I cannot fully express my heartfelt thanks for the sincere, prompt and dependable help from Deepti and Manju in pressing times. The good wishes given by Kanchan and Awantika need a special mention. Whatever I say will always be inadequate for all the magnanimous help and good wishes of Dr Ayub Quadri, Dr A Panda, Dr J Srinivasan, Anshu Aggarwal and Roshni Abraham. Thanks are due to Mr Sarin, Mr Devdutt, Babulal, Satish, Ram Pal, Raju, Nihal Singh, SS Chawla and Jarnail Singh for their cooperation.

Fellowship by the National Institute of Immunology is duly acknowledged.

The completion of this small piece of work, I hope, justifies, albeit to a very small extent, the sacrifices and love of my grandparents Shrimati Indirabai Lokre and Shri Narayan Hari Lokre, my parents, my brothers Ashwini, Aditya and my numerous well wishers.
