

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At first, I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. S. Kalita, Professor, Environmental Science Department and Dr. G. C. Sarma of Botany Department Gauhati University for their consistent supervision and guidance and encouragement throughout the entire period of present research work. I would also like to thank to the Principal of Barama College for necessary permission and other facilities during the period.

I would like to express my indebtedness to the University Grant Commission, North East India branch, Govt. of India for the financial support in the form of a Minor Research Project grant to carry out the research activities.

I would also like to extend my gratitude to the Department of forests, Govt. of Assam for giving me permission and necessary infrastructural facilities in undertaking my field works in the Manas Biosphere Reserve. I am grateful to the local NGOs specially Mr. B. Choudhury of Manas Souchi Khankar Ecotourism Society, forest staff, security forces and fringe villagers of the region for their kind cooperation and rendering of valuable help and security during my long periods field works in this insurgency prone area.

I extend my sincere gratitude to former Heads, Department of Environmental Science, Gauhati University for providing me adequate facilities and a sound academic environment during the research programme. I wish to express my gratitude to Prof. D. C. Goswami, Prof. H. P. Sarma for their valuable suggestions and academic help during the tenure of the present investigation.

I am also thankful to my friends and colleagues Mr. H. Choudhury, Mr. J. Baruah and all other research scholars and office staff of Environmental Science department of Gauhati University for their profound encouragement. I would like express my gratitude to Mr. P. Baruah of ARSEC for rendering help and assistance in analyzing the remote sensing data of Manas Biosphere Reserve.

I am highly grateful to my mother Mrs. D. Bezbarua for her kind cooperation, encouragement throughout the entire period my research work. I would not forget the encouraging words of my late father Dr. S. Bezbarua to start research work since I joined as a lecturer in the Barama College. I am also indebted to my brothers and sister, Mr. A. Bezbarua, Dr. P. Bezbarua and Miss B. Bezbarua for their kind cooperation, encouragement and support in achieving the goal. Lastly but not the least, I am much thankful to my well wishers for their profound encouragement throughout the entire period of my research work.

Arundhati Bezbarua

(Arundhati Bezbarua)

Departmental of Environmental Science
Gauhati University
Guwahati 781014