ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I most respectfully offer my sincere thanks to my guide Mrs. Jandhyala Kameshvari, whose constant encouragement, invaluable guidance and advice ever since I started working on the subject amply afforded me strength to accomplish the present doctoral thesis. She took great pain to examine it to the minutest detail. She extended her considerable time and spent upon the thesis in draft despite her tight schedule. It is privilege and a pleasure to have been able to research under her supervision. My greatest debt of gratitude is to her.

My thanks are also due to Prof. Nagaraju, Prof. Ramakrishna, Prof. T.R. Sharma, Prof. Mathew, Prof. J.P. Gupta, Dr. Shekhar, Dr. Pudhir, Dr. Hongtao, Dr. Alok, and Dr. Rekha Pandey whose encouragement, good will and timely advice helped me a lot. I am highly indebted to them for their cooperation.

I am particularly indebted to Dr. Alluri Murali, whose suggestions have done much to improve my work. He also helped me with bibliographic information. He has most kindly looked up a number of important references for me. My deep thanks are also due to Dr. Adapa Pathyana rayana and Dr. K. Chinnaya Punji who shared their impressions and views with me.

My acknowledgments are also due to the officers and staff of Andhra Pradesh State Archives, Libraries of University of Hyderabad, Osmania University, Fundarayya Vignana Kendra, City Central Library, Telugu University, Centre for Economic and Social Studies, District Gazetteers Office, Hyderabad, Regional Archives, Tirupati; Raja Ram Mohan Roy Library, Velidendla Hanumantha Raya Library, Jagene Research Centre, C.P.I (M) Party Office, Prajanakli Publishing House, Visalandhra Publishing.
I had the benefit of consultation in person, with a number of persons, fortunately still alive who took a prominent part in the anti zamindari struggles of this period. I am particularly grateful to such veterans as N. B. Ranga, Nanduri Prassada Rao, Y. V. Krishna Rao, Makkamala Mogabhusanam; Kanatla Pathyaranayana and Parakala Pullabhirama Rao whose discussions with me gave an insight into political and socio economic situation of those times.

During the period of my Ph D study I received fellowship from University Grants Commission. I am grateful to this body for the support it has provided.

I shall be failed in my duty if I do not express my thanks to my friends for their constant interest in this work.

My chief intellectual debt has been to that great stoker of doubts C. Prinivasara Reddy. His questions have revealed to me the hollowness of many of the liberal values I was brought up with such that I have of necessity had to replace them with a more rigorous and radical structure of thought. My affectionate colleague has been Sri Ramanathulla Khan. He has read the manuscript in many forms and has always been ready with constructive comments. During this work I am given generous cooperation by Y. V. S. S. Pharma, Ramesh and Taha whose computer expertise bailed me out of all the tedious work of manual typing. My deep thanks are also due to Md. Mustafa, Shriv Kumar, Mowra Prinivasara Reddy and Harikrishna who have very kindly helped me.
in reading the proofs besides giving useful suggestions, I am also thankful to the non-teaching staff of History Department Messrs Durga Prasad, Mohan, Das and Kistanna for their kind help throughout my stay in the Department.

I want to put on record my sense of gratitude to P. Yridhar, B. Prinivasa Rao, Dr. Achyuta Sharma, Peenayya, Anouzi and Udaya K Reddy who provided a home in Vijayawada, Chirala, Rajamundry, Visakhapatnam, New Delhi and Madras respectively during my study tour.

I also acknowledge my gratitude to my wife Punita who gave me willing cooperation in shouldering the domestic responsibility throughout the period I was busy with this work. I am grateful to my parents for their encouragement and understanding over a long period and with whose blessings I have completed this thesis.
