CONTENTS

CHAPTER 1
INTRODUCTION
Spices: Defined and their uses 6
Spice: What it is 6
Spices today 8
Scope of the study 10

CHAPTER II
METHODOLOGY
Design of the study 24
Gaps in literature 28
Objectives 29
Definitions, Concepts and Operationalisation 32
Source of data 34
Tools for data analysis 35
Limitations 35

CHAPTER III
AREA, PRODUCTION, YIELD, EXPORTS AND PRICES OF SELECTED SPICES
A. Pepper
  Area, production, yield and exports 38
  Trade restrictions 44
  Developments 46
  World export of pepper 55
  Trade follows the flag 62
  Re-exports of pepper 63
  Impact 67
B. Chillies
  Strengths 74
  World production and consumption of chillies 75
  Commercial varieties grown in India 79
  Import of chillies by major producing countries 86
  Challenges & initiatives 88
C. Ginger 93
   High yielding varieties 94
   Average export of ginger by major producers 101
   Average import of ginger by major countries 102
   Developments 107
   Export scenario 109
D. Turmeric 110
   Rich treasures 113
   Improved varieties 115
   Lead for India 116
   Major international markets 121
   Development 124
E. Yield Gaps in spices 127
   Yield gap in pepper 128
   Yield gap in ginger and turmeric 129
   Yield gap in Chillies 129
F. Conclusion 130

CHAPTER IV 132
A. Promotion by Spices Board 132
   Promotions outside India 135
   Programmes in India 136
3. Analysis 137
   Promotional expenditure and export earnings 138
2. Discussion 138
3. Relative merits of promotional practices 140
   Overseas 140
   At home 146
4. Strategies afoot 152

CHAPTER V 158
1. Promotional exercises - Response of the trade 158
   Analysis of primary data 159
   International Trade Representatives speak out 164

CHAPTER VI 169
Major Findings, Conclusions and Recommendations

Bibliography
Appendices