Acknowledgement

While the writing of this thesis has involved the collective efforts of many people, its successful completion wouldn't have been possible without the assistance and advice of a large number of other people. I extend my heartfelt thanks and sincere gratitude to the people who encouraged and assisted me in various ways in accomplishing this endeavour, a great challenge indeed.

At the outset, I owe my indebtedness to my supervisor Dr. Vivek Kumar, Centre for the Study of Social Systems, School of Social Sciences, JNU, New Delhi, for his able and inspiring guidance to give the shape what it is today. Dr. Kumar's gentle, kindly disposition and diligence in academic matters, incessant encouragement, however, has made the course of writing this thesis a very pleasurable task. In fact, due to his persistent counsel, cooperation and care bestowed on my work, could enable me to complete the thesis within a stipulated periods of two years. Hence, I am very much thankful to him for his unfailing and necessary guidance for my study.

I am extremely grateful to Fr. Abraham Karukaparambil (Diocese of Berhampur) now in California USA, for his unceasing support and encouragement at every stage of my study.

My special thanks for Fr. Khiro Montry the local priest, who accompanied me for the field study and convinced the people to cooperate during my field work.

I extend my gratitude to the Library Staff of Jawaharlal Nehru University, National Institute of Educational Planning and Administration, Orissa State Library, ST & SC Research and Training Institute Bhubaneswar for their valuable help in accessing the material.

My special thanks go to the Staff of ST&SC Development Department Govt. of Orissa (TD-1&2 Sec, Education-1&2 Sec), District Welfare Office Rayagada, ST & SC Research and Training Institute Bhubaneswar. I thank all the state officials for helping me in collecting information. I hope they would appreciate this.
Nonetheless, I do acknowledge the cooperation and no-hesitation that my respondents extended during my field work despite their busy life. I extend my sincere gratitude to them.

My thanks are also due to the host of friends who were always there with me during my thick and thin. The loving encouragement and unceasing persuasion of my wife Swagatika (Nishi), has really helped me in completing the great task in time, so my special thanks are due for her.

Finally, I take this opportunity to convey my heartfelt gratitude to my father and my family members for being the constant source of motivation and help in pursuing my study.

Last but not the least, only I am responsible for any errors or weaknesses the thesis may have.
