

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to acknowledge with thanks and express my sincere gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Anuradha Banerjee, Associate Professor, Centre for the Study of Regional Development (CSRD), Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), New Delhi, for her invaluable advice and suggestions, generosity and patient hearing that she has extended during the preparation of this doctoral research. She has supervised the study thoroughly and has given me full freedom to work. Without her encouragement, guidance, constructive criticism and support, this effort would not have succeeded.

I am grateful to Professor Harjit Singh, Dean, School of Social Sciences, JNU, New Delhi and Professor R.K. Sharma, Chairperson, CSRD, JNU, New Delhi, for giving me the opportunity to pursue my work and allow me to use all the facilities of the centre during my work.

I, in my all sincerity, convey my deep sense of gratitude to Professor P.M. Kulkarni, Professor Sudesh Nangia and Professor M. D. Vemuri, CSRD, JNU, for their encouragement, inspiration, and guidance during my research, which has been very helpful to me. I also express my sincere thanks to all other faculty members for imparting knowledge during the course work. Along with them I am also thankful to all other teaching and non-teaching staff of our centre for their great assistance and help.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Mr. Varghese, Mr. M. Tamil Selvan of CSRD Computer Laboratory, Ms. Shish Kaur of SSS-I Computer Laboratory and my classmate Rakesh Arya for their cooperation and useful suggestions while assisting me in cartographic and other computer works.

I also express my thanks and gratitude to International Institute for Population Sciences (IIPS), Mumbai to provide me the RCH-2 individual data and RCH and NFHS reports for my source data. I have completed this study with the help of the reading materials available in various libraries in Delhi. My thanks are also to the staff members of the libraries: Jawaharlal Nehru University Central Library, Centre for the Study of Regional Development Documentation Unit, Centre for Social Medicine and Community Health Documentation Unit, Population Foundation of India, National Institute of Health and Family Welfare, National Medical Library, Indian Statistical Institute, Delhi School of Economics Library, Population Council, Council for Social Development, Centre for Women's Development Studies, Voluntary Health Association of India, National Council of Applied Economic Research, Institute of Economic Growth, Indian Council of Social Sciences Research, World Bank, United Nations, United Nations Population Fund, New Delhi for their help and allowing me to avail their facilities.

I am indebted to the University Grants Commission – National Eligibility Test (UGC-NET) to provide me the fellowship (JRF and SRF) for my doctoral studies, which helped me to carry on with the logistics of my PhD research.

I am thankful to the Director of Health Services (DHS), West Bengal, District Magistrates and Chief Medical Officers of Health (CMOH) of Hugli and Murshidabad districts and the respective Block Development Officers (BDO), Councilors of the Municipal wards, chairman of the municipalities, head of all Gram Panchayats for allowing me to conduct the field survey for my research. Besides, I would like to express my special thanks to all the health personnel of the respective health units (SCs, PHCs, BPHCs and RHs) for their great assistance for the conduction of In-depth Interviews and Focus Group Discussions successfully in various areas. Apart from them, my special thanks are also for participants of the household survey in my field study.

During the course of my research I have been assisted by several friends. My special thanks are due to Lopa, Bonny, Tupu, Chhuti, Tista and Galuda for their encouragement and moral support and to all my batch mates for making the past few years a pleasant experience.

I am forever grateful and indebted to my father, Dr. Asit Kumar Das and my mother, Mrs. Malabika Das, and express my deep heartfelt gratitude to them for their constant inspiration and support throughout my academic life. All my accomplishments have only been possible because of their valuable contributions. Without their unfailing patience, wishes, prayers, support and everlasting encouragement this endeavour would not have acquired the present shape. My deepest appreciation goes to my sister, Ms. Sanghamitra Das, for her constant encouragement, cooperation and support throughout my studies. I also express my special thanks to my brother-in-law, Mr. Debkumar Mondal, for his moral support during crucial time of my research work. I extend my special thanks to all my relatives for their encouragement and support given to me from time to time.

The responsibility for any error in this work, however, is mine.

SHARMISTHA DAS