ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

None of the words in the known vocabulary will be adequately able to express my appreciation and gratitude to my Supervisor Dr. P. M. Kulkarni, Professor, Centre for the Study of Regional Development (CSRD), Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), New Delhi, who has been providing valuable suggestions and guidance in every step of my research. I have benefited immensely from his infallible wealth of knowledge and experience. As a teacher and advisor, it is he who has made it possible for me to complete this research work, so I am deeply indebted to him. Apart from my professional front, his timely advice helped me to groom my personality in these years.

I am grateful to Dr. Harjit Singh, Dean, School of Social Sciences, to provide valuable support and help and Dr. Ramesh Kumar Sharma, Chairperson, CSRD, JNU, New Delhi, for giving me this opportunity and allowing me to use all the facilities of the centre during my work.

My special thanks and gratitude are due to Dr. M. D. Vemuri, Professor, Dr. Sudesh Nangia, Professor, Dr. Aslam Mahmood, Professor, Dr. Saraswati Raju, Professor, Dr. Shachidananda Sinha and Dr. Anuradha Banerjee, CSRD, JNU, for their encouragement, inspiration, and guidance over the period, which refined and improved my research work. I am also thankful to all the other teaching and non-teaching staff of our centre, especially to the computer centre, CSRD, Mr. Varghese, Mr. T. Selvam, Ms. Sis Kaur, for their great assistance to complete my thesis.

I am grateful to the International Institute for Population Sciences (IIPS), Mumbai specially to Dr. C. P. Prakasam, for providing the NFHS-1, 2 and 3 individual data and NFHS reports for my data source. I would like to convey my special thanks to documentation Unit of CSRD, Central Library JNU, National Institute of Health and Family Welfare (NIHFW), Indian Statistical Institute, Population Foundation of India (PFI), Population Council, Council for Social Development (CSD), UNFPA, National Council of Applied Economic Research, and the Institute of Economic Growth, New Delhi.
for their support in allowing access to the books, journals and documents in their institutes and libraries for my work.

I am indebted to the Sat Paul Mittal Foundation and Indian Association of Parliamentarian on Population and Development who provided the fellowship for my doctoral studies, which helped me to complete my research work without any financial difficulties.

I would like to express my gratitude to Mr. A. R. Nanda, Executive Director, Population Foundation of India (PFI), and Dr. Prema Ramachandran, Director, Nutrition Foundation of India (NFI) for their constant support. I also extend my special thanks to Dr. Lalitendu Jagatdeb to allow me to pursue my doctoral research and also provide me necessary support. I like to thank Dr. Sharmila Ghosh Neogi, Dr. Subrato Kumar Mondal, Ms. Sona Sharma and other professionals from Population Foundation of India. Mr. Rakesh Joyal, Librarian, PFI deserves a special thanks for his support in giving me access to the research material available in documentation unit and Mr. S. S. Negi, System administrator in PFI also deserves special thanks for his constant technical help to complete my thesis.

I am thankful to Mr. Saikat Ghosh, Mr. Pinaki Sengupta, Mr. Rajen Pradhan, Mr. Bhaben Roy, Mr. Krinshnapada Roy, Mr. Anindya Dutta, Ms Anuradha Hui, Mrs. Subhra Ghosh, Mr. and Mrs. Saswata Ghosh, Mr. and Mrs. Sarkar, Mr. and Mrs. Bipul Pal, Mrs. Anita Bag, and Mr. Ankur Bose for providing me necessary help with accommodation and other logistics during my field work. Besides, I would like to express my special thanks to Ms. Mounita (Mimi), Ms. Priyanka, and Ms. Subhrali for their continuous support and great assistance to complete Focus Group Discussions successfully in various areas. Apart from them, my special thanks are due to all Block Development Officers, Councilors of the Municipal wards, Chairman of the Municipalities, head of all Gram Panchayets and specifically to all participants in Focus Group Discussions in my field study.
I express my special thanks to all my teachers in Sadar Girls’ Higher Secondary School, P. D. Women’s College, Jalpaiguri, Mr. Swapan Bose and Mr. Deepankar Bhattacharya, Siliguri College for their encouragement and support to complete my doctoral thesis.

Sometimes healthy competition among friends helps you to excel in your field; therefore no words will be an exaggeration to express my gratitude to Mr. C. Ramesh for his friendly attitude, support, encouragement and help to complete my doctoral research on time. Moreover, my thanks are extended to Purna, Meghna, Sharmistha, Harihar, Chandramallika, Saroj, Preeti, Disha, Sudarshana, Praba, Nihar, Piyali, and Parul for their timely help and encouragement along with all my seniors, juniors, and friends in JNU, classmates, roommates, hostel mates and hostel wardens at Godavari Hostel, JNU for their valuable support.

A would like to extend my gratitude to Ms. Sarala Kulkarni for her motherly support and care during my stay in JNU. In addition, I would like to thank Ms. Manju Sharma, PFI for their support and encouragement. Ms. Srabantika Banerjee (sonamashi) also deserves special thanks for her support, encouragement and timely help during my research work specially lending her audio recorder for my field work.

I am thankful to my mother, Mrs. Jaya Paul for her moral support, encouragement and the struggle she has gone through to bring me up to this level. I am grateful to my father, Late Rabindra Nath Paul, my uncle Late Dr. Aloke Kumar Paul (Chotomama), and my aunty Late Mita Paul (Babunmaa) for their blessings and give me inner strength to overcome all obstacles during my entire research work. Along with them I am also sincerely thankful to my maternal uncle and aunty, all my friends, relatives for inspiring me to complete my work successfully in time.

Lopamudra Paul

(LOPAMUDRA PAUL)