ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This academic endeavour of mine would not have become a reality without the co-operation extended to me by a number of people at different stages of my work.

My first and foremost gratitude goes to my erudite and esteemed supervisor Prof. Sudesh Nangia to whom I owe my entire effort, as without her keen supervision, able guidance, intellectual ingenuity, scholastic co-operation and avid suggestion this work would not have been possible. Besides, her constant motivation has filled an impetus in me to complete this work. I am deeply indebted to her for her kind gesture.

My special thanks to the University Grants Commission for awarding me at first the Junior Research Fellowship and then Senior Research Fellowship which has moulded my life for serious research and without which I would not have completed my Ph.D.

I also gratefully acknowledge the faculty members of the Centre for the Study of Regional Development who inculcated in me the academic and research interest during my course work. In this regard, I am particularly thankful to Prof. P.M. Kulkarni, Prof. Muralidhar Vemuri, Prof. Aslam Mahmood, and Dr. Anuradha Banerjee. My thanks also go to Dr. Bhaswati Das and incumbent Chairperson of my Centre, Prof. Saraswati Raju who facilitated all the administrative work so smoothly.

I am indebted to the staff members of different libraries, particularly JNU library, Population Foundation of India (PFI) library, Helpage India library, National Institute for Health and Family Welfare (NIHFW) library, Census of India library, UN Information Centre and CSR&D Documentation Center for furnishing the required material for research. I am also grateful to Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment for providing me the original policy document on ageing.

I will be ever obliged to humble and cordial Mr. Selvan who has taken care of the computer related problems and Mr. Ishwar who assisted me all along in the preparation of maps and graphs.

My seniors Niranjan Sarangi, Sadanand Mitra, N.C.Jana and Ritu Kumar Mishra have always extended their support in the need. I am beholden for their kind help. I am also appreciative of my friends Naik, Warpa, Manish, Amit Singh, Lalit, Ranjan, Hemis, Amit Chhip, Janaki, Ajit, Katamneni, Ravi, Mahesh, Sreoshi, Kanungo, Manish Ray, Bikram, Taruna, Amrita, Jashlok.
Shweta, Mamta, Manu and Deep and Durgesh who have helped me in all possible ways in the completion of this work.

Last, but not the least, I wish to acknowledge my parents and my family members, whose material and moral support and blessings have been a constant inspiration for me in the completion of this task. I particularly can not forget the sweet smiles and phone call reminders of my nephews and nieces Prince, Pranshu, Poorva, Megha, Jishu, and Rishu for completing my work soon, so that they could spend more time with me.

At last, I am thankful to all the elders who became the subject matter of this thesis and who participated so cordially and enthusiastically in the field work.
