Writing a Ph.D. thesis is both a difficult and an enjoyable experience. It was just like an voyage for me. The person who caught my finger and pushed me to succeed is my supervisor Dr. Phool Badan. He has taught me very basic things of research during this work. His teachings made me to overcome many of my mistakes. His guidance is timeless. His overly enthusiasm and integral view on research and his mission for providing a ‘good research work and not less’ have made a deep impression on me. I do not have words to express my gratitude and honour for him. I am deeply indebted to him for helping me in channelling my thoughts and giving a definite form and shape to my ideas.

My heartily gratitude and thanks go to Prof. S. K. Jha who always helped me whenever I needed. I am also thankful to Prof. Nirmala Joshi, Prof. Anuradha M.Chenoy, Prof. Ajay Patnaik, Prof. Tulsi Ram, Dr. Sanjay Kumar Pandey and Dr. Rajan Kumar for their constant guidance and support while writing this doctoral research work.

During this doctoral study my close friend Sudhir Kumar Suthar read and commented upon various chapters. I am extremely thankful to him. I am also thankful to Ujjawal Rabidas, Jag Pal, Rachana, Arachana, Shailja, Dhajanjay and Pramod for their cooperation whenever I needed.

During my field work in Tashkent, I received help and assistance from the University of World Economy and Diplomacy and Tashkent State Institute of Oriental Study. I am also grateful to Prof. Azad Shamatov, Prof. Farjhod Tolipov, Dr. Mirjohid Rakhimov, Mukimjon Kirgizboev, Dr. Bakhtiyor T. Abidov, Murod M. Ismailov, Usmanov Marifdjon, Abdumanop Tulgqnov, Prof Bakhtiyar Ergashev, Shri Bayat Rahmatov, and Mr. Ansaruddin.

My special thanks go to Ms. Rakhimova Sayyora who helped me in the translation of some Primary Sources that were extremely important for this research work. I am also thankful to my Uzbek friends including, Rono Trukshiya, Ekhtorina, Abdul Malik, Shahid Alim Khan, Khurshid and Bakhtiyar who helped me a lot during my field trip to Tashkent.

I am indebted to Ambassador S. Tayal (Indian Embassy, Tashkent), first Secretary K.D. Dewal and Bhargava Mitra, who made my field trip a meaningful one.

My heartiest gratitude and appreciation go to my parents for their unflagging love and unflinching cooperation throughout my life. I also acknowledge support of my brother Dinesh Kumar, Ashok Kumar and my brother in-laws Dr. Arvind Parihar and Dr. Vijay Kumar and my sisters Mrs. Geeta and Menka and loving kids Parveen, Abhishek, Lokendra and Karan.

I was always helped by the office staff Mr. M.M. Hannda, Vijay and Gurpreet. They took care of all document related formalities without taking much time. The JNU central library staff was also very kind in providing necessary journals and books. The resources in the Nehru Memorial Library, British Council Library, The American Cultural Centre, IDSA library, and Indian Institute of Public Administration library were other sources of information, and deserve my gratitude.
