ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The successful completion of the present study, in spite of the several constraints placed on it, was possible only because of the unstinted cooperation and timely encouragement given to the investigator by many of her teachers, colleagues and well-wishers. In a study of the present type, it is difficult to acknowledge them individually; they are far too many to be mentioned in this report. The investigator, however, would like to make special mention of the help given by:

(1) Dr. N. Vedamani Manuel, Professor and Head of the Department of Education, University of Kerala for guiding the present research and for the patient help he has rendered at each phase of the study, beginning with the formulation of the problem and shaping the method to the preparation of the final report.

(2) Dr. N.P. Pillai, Formerly Professor and Head of the Department of Education and Dean of the Faculty of Education, University of Kerala (currently serving as UNESCO Specialist in Educational Research, Manila, Philippines) who gave the inspiration for the present study.

(3) Dr. V.I. Subramoniam, Professor and Head of the Department of Linguistics, University of Kerala, for the valuable guidance given by him at all stages of the research.

(4) Shri A.K. Narayanan Nambiar, Director of Public Instruction and Dean, Faculty of Education, University of Kerala, for the encouragement he has given for the study and for the continuous administrative support which made it possible.
(5) Mrs. Molly M. Mathew, Librarian in the University Department of Education, for placing at the disposal of the investigator the facilities of the library and for the personal help rendered in locating research literature.

Finally the investigator would like to place on record her deep sense of gratitude to all the Headmasters, Teachers and students and to her Teacher-Trainees who so willingly cooperated with her and helped her to complete the study in a relatively short period of time.
