Acknowledgement

I bow before the Absolute who is the ultimate end of every mystic’s quest for His abundant blessings throughout my efforts in completing this thesis successfully.

I am greatly obliged to Dr. A. Joseph Dorairaj, my supervisor, who with utmost care and concern listened to my plan of research and wholeheartedly accepted me as his candidate and guided me scholarly in every stage of my flight to different directions. He allowed me plenty of freedom to examine through various aspects of the topic and brilliantly assured my paths and encouraged me at every turn of the thesis. I am highly inspired by his genius, hard work and cordiality. I thank him for the skillful contributions and the decisive guidelines at each step of my thesis.

I am thankful to Dr. M. R. Kubendran for his encouragement and support, Dr. S. Lakshmi for her care and concern and Dr. M. A. Jeyaraju for his academic assistance. I am obliged to Dr. C. J. Davis and Dr. Devassy Panthallookkaran (former Principal), Dr. Jenson P. O. (Principal) and all the faculty members of the Department of English and other Departments of St. Thomas’ College, Thrissur for their genuine eagerness which they showered upon me during my research. I thank Dr. Magdalene Dorairaj, Department of English, Fatima College, Madurai for her encouragement.

I recall with gratitude the valuable suggestions given by experts on Sri Aurobindo like Dr. Prema Nandakumar and Ms. Sraddhavan, Savitri Bhavan, Pondicherry. I am grateful to Dr. Jeswine who is an expert on Kazantzakis for her inspiring guidelines. I am very much obliged to Fr. Shaji Kochupurackal who from his limitless generosity provided me with most of the books and articles by and on Kazantzakis from the United States.

I am indebted to my Archbishop His Grace Mar Andrews Thazhath, former Archbishop His Grace Mar Jacob Thoomkuzhy and the Auxiliary bishop His Excellency Mar Raphael Thattil and the other authorities of the Archdiocese of Thrissur for giving me an occasion to pursue my research. I remember with gratitude my parents, brothers and sister and their families, Fr. Baiju Chakkery, Fr. Sebi Chalakkal and Fr. Paul Chalissery and all the loving nuns and inmates of ‘Home of Love’, and the priests and students of Don Bosco Community College, Dindigul and the staff and students of Marymatha Seminary for their constant back-up.

I remember with gratitude the staff of G. Ramachandran Library and the Departmental Library at Gandhigram University. I also remember with gratitude the staff members of the libraries of St. Joseph's College (Autonomous), Tiruchirappalli; St. Paul’s Seminary, Tiruchirappalli; St. Thomas’ College, Thrissur; Marymatha Seminary, Thrissur; St. Joseph’s Pontifical Seminary, Alwaye; St. Agnes College, Mangalapuram and Savitri Bhavan at Auroville, Pondicherry.

I extend my sincere thanks to Mrs. Leela Francis for typing my thesis. My hearty thanks to all my teachers, seniors, batch-mates, fellow-priests, friends and well-wishers for their continuous encouragement.

Martin K. A.