ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

One of the joys of completion is to look over the journey past and remember all who have helped and supported me along this long but fulfilling road. I have received invaluable help and support from various individuals and institutions. It is the most opportune moment to convey my heartfelt gratitude to all of them.

First of all, I would like to express my immense gratitude for my Thesis Supervisor, Prof. Sarmila Banerjee, Rajiv Gandhi Chair Professor, Department of Economics, University of Calcutta for her guidance and encouragement all throughout in making this work possible. Without a single bit of exaggeration, I can say that it was she whose constant support, right from the beginning and till the end, provided me academic inspiration and psychological boost to complete the thesis successfully. Whenever I started considering the task stupendous, she always set an achievable target to boost up my morale and confidence. Without her disciplined and rigorous support, this dissertation wouldn’t have seen the light of the day. All throughout the thesis, she helped me in understanding the basic concepts and her insightful comments had played a crucial role in the completion of this dissertation.

I am indebted to my Associate Supervisor Dr. Prasenjit Sarkhel, Assistant Professor, Kalyani University. He was my M.Phil Supervisor also. From the time of M.Phil, he helped me to understand the primary survey questionnaire and data set that I have used in this thesis. He taught me to build the analytical structure and finally apply them in dissertation. His enormous help in improving my writing skill is gratefully acknowledged.

This research took shape during my tenure as a Project Assistant in University Grants Commission Funded Project “Municipal Governance Practices in Solid Waste Management” at DRS, Department of Economics, University of Calcutta. The Principal Investigator of the project was Prof. Sarmila Banerjee and Dr. Prasenjit Sarkhel was the co-investigator. This thesis owes a lot to both of them and the training that I have received as a Project Assistant has immensely helped me in understanding the research problem as well as data exploration to give the dissertation its current shape. Special thank goes to Mr. Santanu Dasgupta and his team of National Field Service India (NFSI) for his immense help and support in conducting the field surveys. The officials of Bally Municipality are also gratefully acknowledged.

I am especially thankful to Prof. Anjan Chakrabarti, Prof. Sankar Kumar Bhaumik, Prof. Ishita Mukhopadhyay, Prof. Abhirup Sarkar of ISI Kolkata and other Ph.D. Committee members of Economics, CU for their insightful comments on my work during the proposal defense and pre-submission public seminar. I also appreciate the advice and support from Dr. Anirban Mukherjee, Assistant Professor of University of Calcutta. I am grateful to Dr. Sukanta Bhattacharya and Prof. Sudakshina Gupta, the respective former and present Head of the Department of Economics, C.U., for extending institutional support throughout the period of my Research Fellowship.

Comments and suggestions from anonymous referees of journals where different parts of research findings have been published/accepted/communicated and experts present at various International, National and State-level Conferences, Seminars and Workshops where these papers have been presented, have contributed to sharpen the analysis. I would like to thank the organizers of different seminars, conferences and workshops by the Department of Economics C.U. and the Department of Management Studies, IISc, Bangalore. Special mention should be made for Prof. Partha Mukhopadhyay of Center for Policy Research, Prof. Kausik Gupta of C. U., Prof. Vivekananda Mukherjee of Jadavpur University and Prof. Tusar Nandi of Center for Studies in Social Sciences Calcutta (CSSSC).

The work has been carried out with financial support from University of Calcutta where I was associated as University Research Fellow (URF). At the initial stage of my Ph.D. I was associated with Gokhale Memorial Girls College as Guest Lecturer. I am thankful to Prof. Lopita Sakar, Prof. Sanchita Sen, Dr. Sarthak Roy Choudhury, Mr. Krishnendu Maji and Dr. Mafruza Sultana for their cooperation and adjustment during the tenure. During my Ph.D. level studies I also worked for a brief period as a Research Assistant in IIM Calcutta. I am sincerely thankful to my project coordinators Prof. Anup Kumar Sinha, Prof. Partha Ray and Prof. Soumyen Sikder for giving me enough space and time for doing my Ph.D. work along with that assistantship.

Regular interaction and encouragement from professors of C.U. like Profs. Rabindranath Mukhopadhyay, Arijita Dutta, Kumarjit Mandal, Biswajit Ray and Anindita Sen made every minute of my stay in the institution educative and inspiring. Frequent visitors and other professors associated with the DSA Centre in Economics Department, C.U. also deserve mention. In this respect, I would thank Prof. Arpita Dhar of J.U, Prof. Rabindranath Bhattacharya, Dr. Subhra Bagchi of Vidyasagar College for Women, Dr. Kausik Lahiri of Surendranath College, Dr. Saswati Sanyal of Rammohan College, Dr. Sabitri Dutta of Dum Dum Motijhil Rabindra Mahavidyalaya, Dr. Sudeshna Chattopadhyay of Barasat Govt. College, Ms. Sukanya Sarkhel of St. Xavier’s College, Kolkata, Dr. Joysankar Bhattacharyya of IIM Indore, Dr. Saikat Sinha Roy of Jadavpur University for their moral support.

I would like to thank Dr. Subrata Majumder of Sundarban Mahavidyalaya and Dr. Montu Bose of Public Health Foundation of India, New Delhi for guiding me to carry out data analysis using statistical software. Dr. Debanjana Dey of Adamas University and Mr. Sayantan Bandhu Majumdar, Ph.D. Scholar of C.U. are acknowledged for helping me in questionnaire scrutiny and data entry of primary survey. Ms. Tanaya Majumdar, Ms.
Tanima Banerjee and Mr. Debabrata Ray are acknowledged for helping me in editing the thesis. I am thankful to Mr. Shagnik Bagchi Ph.D. scholar at IITB and Ratnadeep Acharyay, Ph.D. scholar at ISI Kolkata for providing articles and books whenever needed. Dr. Jayita Bit of Calcutta Business School, Prof. Sarmishtha Sen of Shyamsundar College, Burdwan, Ms. Pratiksha Banerjee, Heritage Institution, Kolkata Dr. Shirsendu Mukherjee and Dr. Jaya Mukherjee of St. Paul's Cathedral Mission College are acknowledged for their timely support.

The office staffs of Department of Economics, University of Calcutta should be acknowledged especially for their support: Mrs. Indrani Chakraborty, Mr. Tapas Dey, Mr. Barun Bagchi need special mention. I always have enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Basudeb Dey, Mr. Sanatan Chongdar, Mr. Haridas Das and Mr. Gopal Das during my entire Ph.D. tenure at the Department.

Of course, real sense of belonging to this place developed through the day-to-day collaboration and cooperation, sharing of both the time of frustration and the moments of excitement with the team of fellow researchers and friends. I am thankful to Dr. Neelanjan Sen, Ms. Namrata Sinha Roy, Ms. Madhurima Koley, Ms. Swagata Saha, Ms. Meghna Ghosh, Ms. Antara Dhar, Mrs. Sanghamitra Kanjilal Baduri, Mr. Sashi Bhusan Mishra, Mr. Sukumar Sarkar and many more for their invaluable support.

Beyond the academic boundary, I am thankful to my recitation and drama teacher Mr. Jagannath Bose and Mr. Debasish Bhattacharya and my dearest friend Ms. Nilanjana Bhattacharya for providing emotional support and confidence.

Words are not enough to express my gratitude to my family. I sincerely thank my parents Mr. Chandra Sekhar Banerjee and Ms. Anuradha Banerjee for always being there with their faith on me. My mother is the first person who showed me the dream of Ph.D. My brother, Sourasekhar Banerjee was always with me in the journey. Without their support, meeting deadlines and timely completion of the thesis would never be possible. I take this opportunity to thank my maternal grandmother Ms. Chinmoyee Ghoshal, maternal uncle Dr. Ambar Ghoshal and maternal aunty Ms. Soma Ghoshal for their blessings and encouragements. If this final outcome can make them happy that would be my biggest reward.

My grandparents Late Subhrangshu Banerjee and Late Nilima Banerjee and maternal grandfather Late Amiyo Ghoshal would have been very proud at this moment. My tribute goes to these affectionate persons in the form of this thesis.

Though all my teachers, friends, relations and mentors have extended their help and support at every stage, I am alone responsible for all the remaining errors.
