ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Empirical research is a collective exercise. It requires assistance from the cross section of the society, knowledgeable persons and well wishers. The present study is no exception. It is quite a daunting challenge to attempt to list, acknowledge and thank all those people and institutions to whom I am indebted. It is their assistance, encouragement and advice which has helped me in accomplishing my objective. In this connection at the very outset I wish to record my sincere gratitude to all the respondents from the public, political leadership and police organization, who willingly provided me their views on the issue.

First I deeply indebted to Prof. S.K. Chaturvedi, Ex. Head, Department of Political Science, Ch. Charan Singh University, Meerut, for his gracious guidance in bringing out this research work successfully. It is more than true that without his continuous encouragement supervision, fatherly care, and affection even during odd hour and spirited inspirations this research would not have come to completion. His long experience, wide knowledge and clarity of understanding regarding the research process has always been helpful to me in clarifying the metaphysical intricacies of this study.

I am extremely grateful to Mrs. Piyusha Chaturvedi (Wife of Prof. S.K. Chaturvedi) for her constant encouragement, inspiration and affection.
