ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is my pleasure to thank the authorities of the Gandhigram Rural Institute (Deemed University), Gandhigram for permitting me to carry out this Ph.D., research in the Department of Extension Education.

I acknowledge with gratitude the constant encouragement and help extended by Dr. SM. Ramasamy, Vice-chancellor, Gandhigram Rural Institute (Deemed University) Gandhigram and Dr. N. Narayanasamy, Registrar, Gandhigram Rural Institute (Deemed University) Gandhigram throughout the research period.

This thesis would have not been completed successfully without the support and guidance of Dr. S. K. Gopal, Head of the Department of Extension Education, Gandhigram Rural Institute (Deemed University) Gandhigram. His continuous guidance and academic support helped me in completing the thesis. He deserves special mention for his encouragement and valuable comments.

I am deeply grateful to my friend Dr. C. A. Prithviraj, Assistant Chief (Retired), Population Research Centre, The Gandhigram Institute of Rural Health and Family Welfare Trust, Gandhigram. I am indebted to him for his untiring and extremely committed efforts in having gone through the entire thesis and offered valuable suggestions in incorporating various modern statistical techniques.

I sincerely express my gratitude to the Chairman, Managing Director, Executive Directors and other staff members of National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD) for their fullest and continuous support in completing this thesis successfully.

Mr. S.S. Tayade, Assistant General Manager, District Development Manager (NABARD) Bhandara deserves my acknowledgement for his constant help and support throughout the preparation of this thesis.

It gives me pleasure to acknowledge my indebtedness to all with whom I had the privilege of establishing personal contact as well as contact through correspondence and making use of published and unpublished papers.
I am indebted to my wife Mrs. Sushila Sukhdeve and my daughters Mrs. Urmila and Mrs. Sarika and sons-in-law Mr. Sanjay and Mr. Shasidharan, who helped me in the preparation of this thesis.

Last, but not the least, I am thankful to the women members of Self Help Groups, Bank Staff and Non-Government Organizations (NGOs) and the State Government departments in Bhandhara district of Maharashtra for their keen interest and co-operation in the data collection and for giving their views and feedback.

Place: Gandhigram
Date: 11/02/2013

M.L.SUKHDEVE