Acknowledgement

First and foremost, I would like to thank God from the core of my heart for constantly supplying me plethora of mental and physical energy to sustain and complete my doctoral research work and ultimately embodying it in the script called ‘Thesis’. Though I am unable to see him but for me, he is the biggest source of encouragement to live a meaningful life.

I wish to express my deep sense of gratitude and respect to Prof. Susanta Sekhar Adhikari, my supervisor for giving me an ennobling privilege to work in his group and showing me different approaches to think and work in the light of his immense scientific knowledge, constructive criticism and of course with a lot of freedom. I have also learned to recognize different colours of life while working in Science College. I am indebted to Dr. Rajkumar Banerjee who ignited in me the love and interest for Medicinal Chemistry. I was blessed to have him as my research collaborator over the years. I take this opportunity to acknowledge the faculty members of my department for their kind help and valuable suggestions.

I express sincere and warm regards to all my teachers in school, college and university. I wish to show my feeling of thankfulness to my seniors Abhishek Pal, Animesh Sahana, and juniors Subhajit Guria, Md. Yousuf for their guidance and assistance. A special thanks to Souvik Sarkar for helping me in my biological works. I am thankful to Anirban Da for biological evaluation of some synthesized compounds. It is a pleasure to thank all of my departmental colleagues for their kind cooperation and cheerful company. Words are incapable to express my feeling of thankfulness to my friends.

I take the opportunity of acknowledging University of Calcutta, Department of Chemistry for providing me this platform to work on and also the University Grant Commission (UGC) for my fellowship.

No words are fulfilling enough when I try to express feelings of gratitude towards my parents and my family. They are like the pole-star in the entire voyage of my life. I am indebted to my mother, Smt. Sankai Ghosh, whose perception towards life not only encouraged me to persevere with failures but also inculcated in me a deep sense of confidence. I adore my father, Sri Manabendra Nath Ghosh, whose idealistic and humble nature inspired me to move forward through thick and thin of life. It is their strive that has kept me motivated all along.
I have also been assisted and supported by many people over the years to whom I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude. My gratitude to all those people also, whose names I might have omitted unwillingly.
