Acknowledgement

The contribution of many good hearted people in the making of my thesis deserve special mention and it is my proud privilege to thank them. My deepest gratitude goes first and foremost to my Supervisor Dr. R. Vijayanthimala, for initiating me into the world of research. It was her constant support and encouragement that made me endure many obstacles and move forward in my project. I have always admired the depth of knowledge she had in the subject and the ease with which she could approach and solve any problem. I feel really fortunate for being her first student and would cherish every moment of the discussion I had with her on the subject as well as on life. I would like to thank her for all the advice she gave me and in shaping me as an individual.

It is with a deep sense of gratitude I would like to thank Dr. (Mrs.) A. Nirmala, Principal, Ethiraj College for Women for extending her support and words of encouragement throughout my research. I would also like to thank former Principal Dr. (Mrs.) Jothi Kumaravel, for her kind words of encouragement and support when I started my research career. It is my pleasure to thank Dr. (Mrs.) Jeeva, Vice Principal, and Dr. (Mrs.) K. Manimegalai, former Vice-Principal, for their constant support. I would also like to thank the former Deans of Research, Dr. (Mrs.) M. Gowhar Jhan, Dr (Mrs.) M. Jeeva, Dr. (Mrs.) M. Thilagavathy and the present dean of research, Dr. (Mrs.) R. Vijayanthimala, for their support and guidance. I would like to express my sincere thanks to the Head, Chemistry department, Dr. (Mrs.) P. Shanthi, for encouraging and providing me with all the facilities I needed for my research work. At this juncture, I would like to place on record my heartfelt thanks to former Head of the Chemistry department, Mrs. Renukadevi Balasubramaniam, who has been instrumental in upgrading the department into a full-fledged research department that enabled me to carry out research here. I would like to thank each and every staff of the department, past and present, for constantly encouraging me. They were a source of inspiration to me. I would also like to thank all my undergraduate and post graduate teachers from other departments who kept instilling confidence in me during my research.

I would like to express my heartfelt thanks to doctoral committee member, Dr. P. Selvam, NCCR, IIT Chennai, for constantly supporting through highly valued discussions and for allowing me to use the resources in his lab. My sincere thanks are also due to Dr. A.A.M. Prince, RKM Vivekananda College, Chennai, for his valuable suggestions and directions. Their contributions made me shape the thesis in a better way. I also owe my gratitude to my brother, Dr.S.Kannan, Senior Principal Scientist, CSMCRI, for his advice at the right moments and encouragement. My sincere thanks are also due to Dr.(Mrs.)Bharathi Rajan and Dr.(Mrs.) Premalatha for their timely help and support.

I am extremely thankful to Mrs.K.Kalaiselvi, Staff in-charge of the Central instrumentation Centre, Ehtiraj College for Women, for helping me use the facilities efficiently. I also sincerely thank the operators of SAIF,IIT Chennai , for helping in spectral analysis. My heartfelt thanks are due to Mrs. Sujatha and Mrs. Meenakshi, technicians, NETZSCH for recording TG –DTA/DSC. My thanks are due to Dr.(Mrs.)I.Seethalakshmi, for helping me carry out the Biological studies in Lifeteck Research Centre, Koyambedu. I owe special thanks to the Librarians, Ethiraj College for Women, for providing the necessary books which helped me a lot during my course work. I thank the non-teaching staff of my department from the bottom of my heart for their help, cooperation and support extended during the period of research.I would like to thank my fellow groupmates whose presence added lot of energy and made my academic journey a happy one. My special thanks are due to Mrs.D.Malathy and Mrs.G.Brindha for providing many happy moments during my period of research. Their presence made me always feel confident and kept me in high spirits. My special thanks are due to Dr.Vamshi Krishna, Mrs. A.Alagarasi, Mr.Anil Kumar, Mr. Rajesh, Mr. Rajasekar and Dr. Saravanan, IIT Chennai for their valuable inputs and discussion .

This work would not have been complete without the contribution of my family members, who kept encouraging me all these years through their words and prayers. My entire research journey was made pleasurable with the support and cooperation of my husband Mr.J.Kesavan , my parents Mr.V.Krishnan, Mrs.K.Radhamani, and my in laws, Mr.P. R. Jagannathan and Mrs.P.J.Anusuya. I specially appreciate the sacrifice and support my little bundle of joy, Siddharth Kesavan extended to me whenever I needed them. I thank each and everyone associated with me for trusting in all my endeavours, as I cannot mention all the names here.

I could not have reached this part of my life without the blessings and grace of Lord Almighty. All praise and thanks to the Almighty for His choicest showers of blessings that made me walk through all the ups and downs in my life with same courage and confidence. It is He who made me perform better every day and reach this stage in life.

Bharathi Krishnan