ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I have received immense help and encouragement to complete this research work and submit the findings in the form of a thesis. It is my honour and privilege to express my sincere gratitude to some people and institutions, which have helped me directly and indirectly over the last three and half years to complete this humble research work and present the thesis in the present form. At the outset, I express my gratitude to the esteemed Tilak Maharashtra Vidyapeeth (TMV), Pune and all its officials for providing me the research platform leading to Ph. D.

I would like to express my deepest gratitude to my guide Dr. Seema P. Rath, Associate Professor of Economics and Ex-Officiating Principal, Government College of Arts, Science and Commerce, Khandola, Goa for her continuous support, motivation and sincere guidance using her wisdom and knowledge. Without her advice and guidance, I would have not thought of taking up the challenge of this research work. I will be always indebted to her for her constant guidance, support and encouragement that motivated me all the time to handle the research exercise with complete dedication during all the stages of my research endeavour and writing phase of this thesis.

I express my gratitude to all the authors and leading personalities, whose contributions have been quoted or referred in this thesis. It may not be possible to acknowledge any of them by names, but all of them are gratefully acknowledged here. I also take this liberty to apologize before each one of them through this if I have unknowingly used their contribution and have missed to quote their contribution since it has not been done with any intention and I am not claiming others contribution as that of mine.

I take this opportunity to express my thankfulness to Dr. Praveen Jadhav, Head of the Department of Economics, Tilak Maharashtra Vidhyapeeth, Pune for his suggestions, guidance and unstinted support from time to time.

My sincere thanks goes to Mr. Nitin K. Bakhale, Zonal agricultural officer Ponda, Goa and Mr. Perni, Assistant Director of Agriculture, Govt. of Goa, Tonca-
Caranzalem, Panjim, Goa for providing valuable information and secondary data required for the study.

I would like to extend my special gratitude to our family friend Mr. SudinJamble for readily shouldering the responsibility of accompanying me during the primary data collection from the farmers of different villages of Pondataluka. He solved all the constraints encountered while collecting such precious information from the farmers while working in the field or while taking rest near their farms. I also record my sincere thanks to all my farmer respondents, who spared their valuable time in providing the necessary information, which forms the soul and the body of my thesis.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr. VithalSukthankar, well known Faculty, Goa Institute of Management (GIM, Goa) and Dr. AtanuBhattacharjee, Statistician for their valuable suggestions and extra ordinary help during the statistical analysis and compilation and presentation of empirical data.

I am thankful to the Officials and staff of Center for Multidisciplinary Development Research (CMDR), Dharwad, Karnataka University, Dharwad, College of Agricultural Science, Dharwad, Central Library, Goa, Goa University Library, Goa, Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR), Old Goa, Government College of Arts Science and Commerce, Khandola, Goa, for permitting me to make use of their libraries to collect valuable information during my research work.

I would also like to sincerely thank Dr. Prabir K. Rath Associate Professor of Geography, Government College Khandola and Chairman, BOS in Geography of Goa University, Goa for his constant support, encouragement and valuable suggestions, which helped me to complete my research work and writing of report within a stipulated time.

My sincere thanks to Mr. AbhayKamat an entrepreneur and expert at Micro-Magic Computer Institute for shouldering the responsibility of carrying out all the computer related work during the course of the research and finally designing the thesis and presenting in the present form.

I would like to sincerely thank Mr. AjitPatil and Mrs. SudhaPatil, Pune for providing me the much needed accommodation during my trips to TMV, Pune for course and administrative works. I would like to thank all my colleagues from Government College, Khandola namely Dr. Lopamudra Bhattacharya, Ms. PriyankaPednekar,
Mrs. RanjanaSavoikar, Mrs. Yogita Joshi and Ms. NivedaKorgaonkar for their help and words of encouragement for my research work.

Completion of this research work is a part and parcel of the fulfillment of my parent’s wish of having all their daughters with highest possible qualification in their respective fields. I thank my parents Mrs. SharadaDessai and Mr. BabloDessai who succeeded in inculcating the sense and seeds of achieving higher educational levels among their children. I am also grateful to my in laws, Mr. LaxmanPatil and late Mrs. VasantiLaxmanPatil for their interest, encouragement and support in my studies. I express my thanks to sister Dr. SameetaSawant (Public Health Dentist) Australia and her family members namely Mr. AbhijitSawant, Dr. ManoharSawant and Ms. SheelaSawant, Pune, for their valuable suggestions and encouragement from time to time. I also express my gratitude to my another sister SampadaDessai, Associate Professor, Gyn-oncology, Malwar Cancer Centre, Kerela and her husband Dr. Vijay Patil, Assistant Professor (Medical Oncology), Tata Memorial Centre, Mumbai for their valuable inputs.

Last but not the least, I would like to extend my special gratitude towards my husband Mr. Sanjay Patil and all our family members for encouraging me to concentrate on my research work sacrificing a lot for me. I thank my two kids, namely Master Sairaj and baby Amruta to have borne a lot with me.