ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This study was carried out under the supervision of

Dr. C. Ramachandran, M.Sc, M.Phil., Ph.D., Associate Professor and Head, Department of Economics, S.T. Hindu College, Nagercoil. I am deeply indebted to him for his valuable guidance and encouragement at all stages of this work. He always made himself available for consultation and I have greatly benefited from his comments and suggestions. Needless to say that but for his painstaking efforts and effective guidance, this thesis would not have taken its present shape.

I am extremely thankful to Dr. S. Perumal, Principal, S.T. Hindu College, Nagercoil for granting permission to do my Ph.D. degree in the college.

My special thanks are to Dr. D. Velappan, Former Principal, S.T. Hindu College for his advice, sustained interest, constructive criticisms and constant encouragement to complete the study.

I express my sincere and heartfelt thanks to my teacher Dr. C. A. Sham Shankar, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, Department of Economics, S.T. Hindu College for his encouragement and support for the completion of my study.

I am grateful to Dr. G. Subbiah, Assistant Professor of Economics, for his inspiration and moral support.

I am profoundly grateful to thank the officials of the District Rural Development Agency, Nagercoil, Office of the Assistant director of Economics and statistics for giving me the necessary documents relating to the present study.

I express my sincere thanks to the librarians of Centre for Development Studies, Trivandrum, Manonmaniam Sundaranar University, Tirunelveli., Hindecon
Research Centre, S.T. Hindu College, Nagercoil for providing valuable study material pertinent to this study.

I would like to record my thanks to all my teachers in the Department of Economics, S.T. Hindu College for their blessings.

My special thanks goes to the librarians and staffs of the Center for Development Studies, Trivandrum, Manonmaniam Sundaranar University, Tirunelveli, Scott Christian College, Nagercoil, for their permission to browse the library for the collection of necessary materials pertaining to my study.

I would like to record my thanks to Dr. K. Soundara Raja, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Commerce, S.T. Hindu College, Nagercoil, for his advice and constant encouragement to complete the study.

I am thankful to Dr. S. Binduja, Ph.D., Head, Department of Economics Sree Devi Kumari Women’s College, Kuzhithurai and My Co-scholars Dr. S. D. Shanthi, Dr. V. Sri Devi, Dr. M. Mini for their encouragement and support in all levels of my research work.

I am extremely indebted to all my MGNREGS beneficiaries who cheerfully answered my tedious questions.

My hearty thanks also goes to my father Sri. S. Paramasivan, my mother Smt. Dhanushkodi my wife K. Lakshmi Priya, my daughter N. Yazhini, my father-in-law Thiru N. Kumaresan and family who are the source of inspiration to me.

I shall be failing in my duty if I do not express my sincere gratitude to God, the almighty who helped me a lot in the completion of this task by showering his mercy and grace.

I express my appreciation to Mr. A. Sukumaran, Proprietor, Kannan Technical Institute and Computers, Nagercoil for the neat execution of this thesis.