Acknowledgement

The compilation of this labour of love has been a journey fraught with anticipation, anxiety and trepidation. It is fair to say that but for the enthusiastic support given by my labmates, relatives, peers and alike, the successful conclusion of this treatise would have remained a distant dream.

The 'Inspiration' behind my 'perspiration', I can barely find words to express my gratitude to the people who were there proffering help and advice when I needed it the most. Although there is no way the contribution of these people can be measured, perhaps the only way I can express my indebtedness, is to acknowledge their consistent, timely and unprejudiced help, failing which my efforts would not have borne fruit.

Ancient Sanskrit texts have acclaimed the status of teacher thus;

“Guru Brahma, Guru Vishnu, Guru Devo Maheshwara, Guru Sakshat Parambrahma, Tasmai Sri Guruvenamah”

Prof. R.N.K. Bamezai has been all of this and more, to me in these past years. A friend, philosopher and above all a proficient Guide, but for his encouragement I would have been a lamb that strayed from the flocks.

I am very grateful to our Dean, Prof Alok Bhattacharya, under whose stewardship I was able to use the good offices and facilities of the School of Life Sciences, JNU.

I would also like to thank Prof. Yadava, Prof. RK Kale, Dr. PC Rath, Dr. Deepak Sharma in this regard, for always being supportive and guiding me a long way on clearing several hurdles.

I am indebted to Dr. NK Shukla and Dr. Deo at AIIMS, New Delhi for providing their consent for the collection of blood samples and tumor tissues from cancer patients for as long as they could do it. The help rendered by all the nurses at the hospital is also acknowledged.

I am thankful to all those patients of this dreaded disease who enthusiastically volunteered to participate in the present study in the gravest moments of their life, just so that I could be given an opportunity to tread on unfamiliar ground and hopefully arrive at conclusions beneficial to society at large.

I greatly appreciate the timely help rendered by Dr. P. Marimuthu, Department of Statistics and Demography, MHRD, New Delhi, for statistical treatment of the data.

I shall always be grateful to my colleague Mr. Dheeraj Malhotra, who proved to be supportive during my difficult times. I am especially indebted to Dr. Anjana Saha, Dr. B.N. Singh, Mr. Anand Ranjan, Dr. M. Anita, Ms Reetakshee Arora, and Vibhuti Gupta, but for their support and cooperation things would not have been smooth. I personally cherish the moments shared with them.

I am especially thankful for timely support of my juniors, Madhuri, Sailesh, Kamal, Ashish, Sawarkar, Audeesh and Nandini. My sincere thanks to Rahul, Katayoon Darveshi, Pankaj, Pushpa, Ritu, and Meha for the friendly environment they created in the lab.
I would extend my acknowledgments to my friends Prasanna, Nivedita, Versha, Manjistha, Deepali, Anita, Meenakshi, Gagan, Rajesh, Sukhendra, Suresh, Neelay, Mukesh, Yash, Manoj, Yogi, Sameer, for brightening the days at work in the School and within the University.

I should thank Sangeeta and Somnath Dutta for guiding me in things related to computer and assisting me in typing.

Many thanks are due to Mr. Kantha Ram, Mr. Gansham and Kashif in the maintenance of the lab. and for assistance from time to time.

I am extremely thankful to the CIF and CCIF staff (Dr. Alexandra, Dr. Sharma, Mr. Khan, Mr. Mishra, RSO, Mr. Meena, Mr. Bakhant,) for their assistance and Mr. Saini for his timely help with his ‘photography-experience’.

I would also like to thank office staff of the School for their cooperation.

I am ever indebted to U.G.C whose invaluable financial assistance has gone a long way in fructifying the objectives of this treatise. The support of DBT in the form of a project in the lab. towards the work done in the first chapter is also acknowledged with thanks.

In this cherished moments I give my special thanks to my parents and parent in-laws for their love, understanding and blessings, which helped me to achieve this. Words fail to express my love for all my brothers, sisters and brothers in-laws for their affection and constant encouragement.

I thank my wife Ms. Savitri Bairwa for being the driving force and also for getting me through the most difficult and testing moments in my life. She was and continues to be an unending source of moral support and inspiration.

Finally I also extend my thanks to all who have helped me directly or indirectly in completion of this work successfully.

Narendra Kumar Bairwa