ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I wish to record my most profound gratitude to my Guide, Dr. S. Sakthi, M.A., M. Phil., Ph.D., Associate Professor and HOD, Department of Sociology, Queen Mary’s College, Chennai for her valuable guidance, suggestions and encouragement throughout the course of my research work. Her learned advice has contributed greatly to this report. It is a great pleasure to acknowledge her support and guidance.

I am immensely grateful to the Principal, Queen Mary’s College, Chennai, for having given me an opportunity to do research in this esteemed college.

I record my special and sincere thanks to Doctoral Committee members Dr. Kalavathy Associate Professor, Department of Sociology, Queen Mary’s College, Chennai and Dr. M. Thamilarasan, Assistant Professor, Department of Sociology, University of Madras, for their sustained help and fullest support in completing this research work.

I owe my deepest sense of gratitude to Dr. Jaishee Geetha, Prof. Banu Gayathri Devi, Prof. Nagarajan, Department of Sociology, Queen Mary’s College, Chennai for their constant encouragement and inspiration in completing this research work.

I record my special and sincere thanks to Dr. K.C. Geethakrishnan, Prof. K. Vasantha Kumar, Associate Professors, Department of Sociology, The New College, Chennai and Dr. Radha Murugesan, Senior Professor, M.O.P. Vaishnav College, Chennai for their sustained help and fullest support in completing this research work.
I record my special thanks to the officials of Corporation of Chennai in providing the necessary data for mother and child health.

I wish to express my deep sense of appreciation to the sample respondents who cheerfully submitted themselves for this investigation.

I greatly acknowledge my beloved husband Dr. P. Sritharan, Assistant Professor, Department of Sociology, The New College, Chennai for his inspiration, assistance of all kind and support without which this work would never been completed.

To all those who have been of help to me in one way or the other, I owe a word of thanks and crave their indulgence for not acknowledging their help individually.

Last, but not least I thank Almighty of God for giving me the necessary energy to complete this research work.

J. EVA ROSALIN SANTHAKUMARI