Acknowledgement

I am indebted to my supervisor Dr. Gangaganath Jha without whose cooperation and valuable guidance I would never have produced this work. I also owe a debt to Professor Dawa Norbu for sparing his valuable time for me whenever I got tangled in some theoretical problems. His expertise on Arab Nationalism benefited me immensely in developing a coherent understanding of the nuances of the Pan-Islamic politics. I am equally thankful to Prof. Girijesh Pant and Dr. Manmohini Kaul, Prof. S. T. Devare for providing me relevant advice.

My stay in Indonesia came through the courtesy of the Ministry of HRD, India, which provided me with a Government of India Scholarship for one year for learning Music and Culture of Indonesia. I also thank ICSSR (Indian Council for Social Science Research) for providing me partial financial assistance for the compilation of the present thesis.

I would like to thank Drs. Suhadi M. Salam, Minister Counsellor, Indonesian Embassy, New Delhi who guided me towards a proper understanding of the current thought patterns of the Indonesian Muslims. He was always eager to help me and spared time for me in spite of his busy schedule to explain Islam and politics in Indonesia. I am equally thankful to Lt. Col. (Retd) Agustinum Subagio, Mr Hariyadi Wirawan & Ms Endang H. Wirawan for their kind support and making me increasingly more familiar with the Indonesian social systems.

I would also like to record my debt to Mr. Dalton Sembiring, Attaché, Information and Cultural Section, Mr. Madan Singh Airara and Ms. Dewika Paul, of the Indonesian Embassy who provided me relevant information for my research. I am equally grateful to Mr. Prem Sundar Jha (Advocate, Supreme Court of India) and Dr. Sharmistha Sen, reader in Music in Daulat, Delhi University. I am thankful to Sanjay Photostat, SIS, JNU and Sri Shilbhadra Singh for typing and other related works.

I must here record my appreciation for Dr Ajay Mishra for his alert proof reading of the thesis and Dineshji, Tabrez, Bhusan, Doya, Pankaj, Vikas Ranjan, Mala, Boby, Sachin, Pradeep, Krish, Thakur, Bulu for voluntarily engaging in interesting debates during our meetings on the related topics.
I would be remiss, however, not to forget singling out my family members Dadi, Kaka ji, Dr. (Capt) Sudhir Ranjan Jha, Sri Kripanath Jha, Binduji, Meera, Maa, Chacha ji, Chachi, Bhaiya, Bhauji, Maitreyee, Anil (Bhola), Putul, Jyotishji, Rashmi, Rinki, Nitu, Anuja, Anupriya, Amish, Rishikesh for their never-ending support.

Finally, I pay my thanks to my brothers Girish and Bhuwan who have always extended their support throughout my life.

Gautam Kumar Jha
December 2002