

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Prof. Noam Chomsky's Towards New Cold War contributed in no small measure towards developing my interest in this area. Further, I was encouraged by my supervisor Prof. Amitabh Mattoo, to pursue research in this area of interest. I am grateful to my supervisor for his incisive comments and able guidance, which enabled me to shape my thesis. I thank him for his support and cooperation throughout my period of research.

I take this opportunity to convey my indebtedness to Prof. Sumitra Chisti for her constant encouragement and for arranging financial assistance during the initial stages of my research. I also thank Prof. V.S. Mani of the International Law Division, who was kind enough to spare his valuable time to clarify certain issues in my area of research. I also thank Dr. C. S. R. Murthy and Dr. Sahadevan of South Asia Division for their encouragement during my research.

I would like to express my gratitude to the School of International Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University for providing financial assistance for my field trip to Australia. It enabled me to collect valuable materials and gave me an opportunity to interact with various scholars. In this regard, I wish to thank Prof. Harold Crouch of Australian National University, who was always helpful in times of need.

I express my gratitude and thanks to Jawaharlal Nehru Memorial Fund for awarding me a scholarship to visit Singapore on a field study. I thank Institute of Southeast Asian Studies for accepting me as a Visiting Associate and providing the required facilities for my research. It provided me with an opportunity to consult various materials and interview various experts in this area of research. I convey my thanks to Dr. Derek Dacunah, Prof. K.S. Nathan, Dr. Daljit Singh and Dr. Anthony Smith for their support and encouragement during my stay in Singapore.

A special mention should be made about service rendered by the library staff of Jawaharlal Nehru University, Indian Council for World Affairs, Indian Society for International Law, United Nations Information Centre, and Institute of Defence Studies and Analysis in New Delhi; J. B. Chifley, R.G. Menzies and Law Faculty Libraries of the Australian National University; Institute of South East Asian Studies, Law and Central Libraries of National University of Singapore.

I am indebted to various people who helped me during the course of my research. First of all I thank Prof. Benedict Anderson of the Cornell University and Prof. Peter Carrey of King's College, University of Oxford, who always clarified my doubts promptly through electronic mail. I am grateful to Ms. Radhika Unni, Brig. Oberoi, and Gp.Cpt. Bawa P. Singh, volunteers of the National Association for the Blind, New Delhi, for the invaluable service rendered by them in providing reading service. Special thanks to my friends Ms. Gandhi and Ms. Selvi of the Institute of South East Asian Studies, who never refused help whenever I approached them.

It would be incomplete without mention of my friends, who are my source of strength and inspiration, not only during my research but also in my life. I would like to thank Venkat and Senthil who brought this thesis in the present form. I remember Moushumi, Cheri and Susan for their warmth, affection and support. Mention must be made of M.N. Rajesh for being on my side through all my years of association with him. Special thanks to Shankari, Smruti, Leslie, Wei Chi, Mathi, Deepak, Amitabh, Kanchan, Anil Chandi, Haju, Praveen, Sowesh, Ravi, Nalin, Bharatendu, Ranjit, Ashok, Sailaja, Meena Paniker, Sukanya, Zarin, Thiruma, Bala, Paulraj, Mano and Ganga. Last, but not the least my heartfelt thanks to Kalpalatha Iyer.