I am deeply grateful to my guides, Professor A.P. Padhi, Department of Political Science and Public Administration and Professor G.N. Das, Department of Economics, Sambalpur University for their advice and guidance. They not only encouraged me to select this research topic but also saw that this work is completed within a reasonable time limit. Their insistence on strict standards has resulted in my emphasis on detailed analysis and on current events and legislations.

I acknowledge a debt of gratitude to Prof. R.S. Rao, Reader, Dr. P.K. Tripathy, Reader & Mr. S.S. Rath, Lecturer, Department of Economics, Jyoti Vihar, Sambalpur University for their kind help in various stages of statistical analysis. I am thankful to Dr. S. Bagh, Reader and Head of the Department of Statistics for his help at the time of selecting the sample.

I feel obliged to Prof. G.K. Rath, Post-Graduate Department of Law, Jyoti Vihar and Dr. P.C. Mishra, Head of the Department of Environmental Science for their valuable suggestions.

I express my gratitude to Prof. S. Nanda, Post-Graduate Department of Political Science and Public Administration and Dr. K.C. Das, Lecturer in Political Science, Larambha College, Mr. J.K. Nayak, Lecturer, Department of English, Jyoti Vihar for their help and encouragement.

I express my thankfulness to the Secretaries of all the four Grama Panchayats in general, and to Mr. R.B. Nayak, Secretary, Dhama Grama Panchayat in particular for having allowed me to take down various statistical information relation to income, expenditure, population and functioning of their respective Grama Panchayats.

I express my indebtedness to Mr. B. Panda, District Panchayat Officer, (Retd.), Sambalpur and his staff & to Mr. H. Routray, District Statistical Officer, Sambalpur and his staff for their kind help. I am deeply indebted to Mr. K.C. Baboo, Chairman of Maneswar Panchayat Samiti, B.D.O. Maneswar Block and his staff for their cooperation. I express my gratitude to Mr. T. Panda, Samiti Member of Sahaspur Grama Panchayat, for his help.

I express my thankfulness to Prof. J.P. Pattnayak and Prof. K. Sarap, Head of the Department of Economics, Jyoti Vihar for allowing me to use the computer and books of Prof. S.P. Gupta Memorial Library of Economics Department. I express my deep gratitude to Mr. S.K. Padhi for his assistance in statistical analysis with the help of Computer. I express my sincere thanks to the Librarian and Mr. K.C. Panda of R.D.C. Office, Sambalpur for cooperation and for enabling me to get the census records.
I fail to find words to express my gratefulness to late Professor S.P. Gupta who actively encouraged me during his lifetime to complete this work sincerely. The proposed plan 4L model is a direct product of our discussion. I had with him as a Research Project Investigator and a Junior Research Fellow working under his guidance. I solemnly dedicate this humble work to late Professor S. P. Gupta.

I am deeply indebted to a number of persons working in the Sambalpur University for the cooperation and encouragement I received in the course of doing this work. I am thankful to Dr. B. P. Mohapatra, Librarian, Central Library, Sambalpur University and his staff in general and Mr. S. Ali in particular for enabling me to get books and journals as per my requirements.

I am thankful to Prabhat, Sananda, Suren and my relatives, for their help.

I thank Mr. B. N. Padhan for his neat and decent typing.

My special thanks are due to my better half Indrani, my children, Bhabes and Sanghita, for their active cooperation, continuous inspiration and devotional sacrifice of leisure and pleasure without which this humble work could not have been completed.

( Akrura Chand )