Acknowledgement

I wholeheartedly thank and express my profound gratitude towards Dr. Manjunath Ghate, Dean and Director, Nirma University for giving me an opportunity and providing necessary facilities to undertake and complete the present research work.

I owe my thanks to Prof. M. N. Navale, (President) and Dr (Mrs) Sunanda M. Navale (Founder Secretary), Sinhgad Technical Education Society, Pune for providing excellent infrastructural facilities, encouragement and support to undertake present research work.

I take this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude towards my mentor, my guide Dr. (Mrs) Bhoomika M. Patel, Institute of Pharmacy, Nirma University, for her active guidance, innovative, constant inspiration, untiring efforts, encouragement and her endless enthusiasm and receptive attitude will always remain a source of inspiration for me. She always inspired me to make this work a grand and glaring success. I consider myself privileged to have worked under her, as she always shared vast experience so generously and patiently in spite of busy schedule. I also thank her for encouraging independent thinking and bringing out the best in me. I sincerely thankful for the interactive help received from her by the way of advice and suggestions. I must thank her for teaching me all those small things that have made such a large difference and has given the shape to my thesis; it is today – “My Mentor.”

I feel indebted to Dr. R. K. Goyal, Professor, Delhi Pharmaceutical Sciences Research University, Delhi, Dr. K. S. Jain, Principal, Alard College of Pharmacy, Pune, and Dr. M. T.
