REFERENCES

124. Yasshi Masuda et. al (1989) introduced an objective function which incorporates average cost, time dependent value of the software system and the cumulative running cost.