Words are very poor substitute to express one's emotions and feeling, there are no other alternative to give vent to one's sentiment, particularly on an occasion like this, when one sites in acknowledging the debates of others.

The pursuit of scientific knowledge is long arduous and some time observe path, but the presence of inspiration and close collaboration of Dr. B.L. Saraswat, Reader Department of Animal Husbandry and Dairying, Udaipur Autonomous College, Varanasi, Uttar Pradesh and supervisor of my work made it highly interesting and illuminating, it is due to his uncanny knack of getting to the heart of problem, that this work would become a possibility. I shall always remain indebted to him for his undivided attention, pointed thrust and constant encouragement current endeavour.

I feel highly obliged and extend my sincere and grateful thanks to Dr. R.S. Singh, Principal, and Sri R.P. Singh, Reader, Head Department of Animal Husbandry and Dairying, Udaipur Autonomous College, Varanasi for his cooperation, guidance and genuine help extended to me during the course of this study and during entire degree programme.

I feel pancyty of words in expressing my utmost gratefulness and regards to Dr. R.G. Upadhyay, Retd. Reader, Department of Agricultural Economics, M.M. Post-graduate College Balla for evincing keen interest and valuable suggestions during the course of study.

I am grateful to late Dr. B. Singh, Ex- Principal, M.M., P.G. College, Balla, Prof. Sant Raj Singh, Retd. Head Deptt. of A.H. & Dairying Udaipur Autonomous College Varanasi.

At last, but not the least, the thanks are also due to my friends Sri Braj Bhooshan Yadav, Lect. Geography, Om Prakash Upadhyay, M.Sc. (Chemistry), Dr. S.N. Gupta, Lect. Agril. Econ., Dr. Santosh Kr. Sinha, Reader, Shri Chandrika Singh and my other family members also, who rendered their valuable help, cooperation and good wishes, without which it would not have been possible for me to complete this manuscript.

I am also highly thankful to Mr. Rajendra Prasad Verma, Prop. Ravi Computer & Electrostate, Town College Chauraha, Ballia (UP) for his pains taken in careful typing of this manuscript.
