Acknowledgements

I acknowledge with deep gratitude my Supervisor, Dr. Swaran Singh, for the intellectual rigorousness and focus that this thesis badly needed, for the constant motivation, kind patience and the timely completion of this study. His standards of intellectual lucidity and hard work have been very exemplary.

I also wish to express my sincere thanks to Prof. Kanti P. Bajpai, my earlier Supervisor, who not only cleared the proposal for this study but introduced me into the harsh realities of research. Working with him for six years has been an intellectual adventure, highly stimulating and fulfilling.

My gratitude to the faculty and staff of the Centre for International Politics, Organisation and Disarmament, Prof. Varun Sahni, Prof. C.S.R. Murthy, Prof. Amitabh Mattoo, Siddharth Mallavarpu for the challenging academic environment.

I must thank the JNU library staff, the IDSA library staff and friends, the American Centre library, the British Council library, the French Information Centre, the ICSSR library and the Teen Murty library for their facilities.

Thanks are due also to the Don Bosco Province of Dimapur for constant support and encouragement. Fr. Verghese Palathingal, Fr. Manuel Paikada, Fr. Jose Palely, Fr. M.D. Verghese and others have all been a part of this work.

During the course of my Ph.D., I got opportunities to visit a number of countries for conferences. I was able to visit their libraries and hold discussions with a number of academics from various countries. I must thank Prof. Carlo Schaerf (University of Rome), Dr. Shu Yuan Hsieh (Academia Sinica, Taipei), Mike Moore (Editor, the Bulletin of Academic Scientists), Forum-Asia, Bangkok and many others for these opportunities.

Friends in JNU were, however, the ones that I constantly ran to both for academic purposes and during my ‘highs’ and ‘lows’. Samuel C. Rajiv, D. Hriipuni, Yutaka Sato, Monalisa Joshi, A. Kaisii, Ritu Mathur, Ashok Maharaj and my table tennis fraternity, Umakant Nayak, Nagendra MP, Nara, Sushanta Jena, Peter Ki and others would not only indulge me in intellectual exercises but also enlivened the boring evenings in Brahmaputra hostel. Thanks, I wish you all well.

My mum and brothers and sisters have supported me with all what they could. Thank you is too small a word. Ngounila and my little Kasunga have been extremely tough and stood by me during extremely testing times – smiling through it all!
