ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

“Let us be grateful to the people who make us happy; they are the charming gardeners who make our souls blossom.”

-Marcel Proust

Though only my name appears on the cover of this dissertation, a great many people have contributed to its production. I owe my gratitude to all those people who have made this dissertation possible…

Many people have influenced me personally and academically over the years. The knowledge that I have gained from them culminates in this thesis. This thesis is as much an attribute to them and their excellence as it is an example of my academic excellence. They have spent countless hours passing the torch of knowledge on to me and the rest of those have blessed my life by their gracious presence.

First and foremost, I express my gratitude to our Almighty for having bestowed upon me the wisdom, talent and strength in my pursuit of knowledge and making my Endeavour successful.

I am highly grateful to the esteemed Principal of the renowned institution, the New College JANAB. A. ABDUL MALIK SAHIB and the most respected Head of the Department of Economics Dr. MAJOR. ZAHID HUSAIN for having graciously given me the opportunity to do my PhD in this College.

The first of those I would like to recognize is a man who has the truest love for the discipline of economics: whose biggest source of love, knowledge, pride, and meaning in life stems from the effect he has upon the lives of those around him—especially his students. For him, the spark of idea comes and embodies itself in the form of the thesis. I express my heartfelt thanks and deep sense of gratitude to my research supervisor DR. KAREEMULLA BASHA for his valuable timely advice and sustained efforts.

I owe my special thanks to my mother in law Mrs. A. K Sirajunissa for being my second mom by providing her constant encouragement and sharing my domestic duties to give me peace of mind.

I wish to thank my beloved eldest sister Mrs. Annes Fathima Banu for having spent sleepless nights with me and the extra effort that she has taken to give her valuable suggestions.

I express sincere thanks to my adorable sisters, Mrs. Shakila Banu for her unflinching support in reassuring me that my efforts would eventually deliver positive results and Mrs. M. Asia Yasmin for her moral support and valuable prayers.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to my affectionate brother Mr. Mohamed Madar Mohideen for his overwhelming support that he has rendered in doing statistical analysis and for introducing me to the world of computer science.

I am thankful to our children Shameema, Shanaz, Ashgar, Fazil, Reyhan and Farheen for providing me the bliss of Kids’ world to keep up the spirits cheerful during my drooping mood swings.

The most important three people I mention below deserve much credit for guiding me throughout my life and making me the woman I am today.

My father Mr. M. Zindha has always been desirous for my prosperity.. He is the Man of Perfection.. Man of discipline… which I have inherited from him in life.. He sees to that I always get the best in my life … Thank you Dad for being there for me and guiding me reach my goals ..

To my mom Mrs. M. Z Ayesha, the lady who has always been there…like an Angel- showering her love, protecting, caring, nurturing, understanding, strengthening and holding me always in her prayers. My in-depth credit goes to her for ingraining in me the ethical values and ways of life which have become intrinsic parts of who I am and who I will be. Thank you mom, for being my heavenly solace whenever life tests me.

Last but not the least, my most loving better half, Mr. A. Mohamed Kamil who is my pillar of support in everything I do… I sincerely acknowledge the innumerable acts of silent care and support provided by my husband. He has patiently borne the brunt of my preoccupation with research and arranged everything comfortable to my work…. he is the man of great understanding… my special thanks to him for believing in me, and in the process of doing so, helping me believe in myself without whom this thesis is not possible.

Recognition must also be given to all my venerable teachers who laid the important groundwork to my education.

A special word of Thanks are due to Dr. Mrs. R. Maya, Head, Department of Economics. I also thank Mrs. Hepzi for the help that she has rendered in doing statistical analysis. I express my sincere thanks to all the teaching fraternity of the Department of Economics in THE NEW COLLEGE and QUIDAE-MILLATH COLLEGE for their moral support and encouragement. I thank all my friends for their valuable advice and support rendered throughout the completion of this thesis.

A word of thanks is due to the Librarian of Madras Institute of Development Studies.

With humility I thank everyone once again who made this thesis and me possible.
