Acknowledgement

I want to thank several personalities that made this work possible and that made the last five years seem to go by like a breeze. First of all, I wish to acknowledge my deepest sense of sincere gratitude to my supervisor Dr. Asoke Kumar Bhunia, Associate Professor, Department of Mathematics, The University of Burdwan and Associate Editor of the international journal OPSEARCH (Springer) for growing my first interest in this research field. Without his keen interest, active support, constructive criticism, valuable guidance, tireless help and continuous encouragement throughout the entire period of my research works, even helping me relax and conquer any kind of nervous tension this work would never be completed.

I would also like to thank the authorities of St. Xavier's College, Kolkata for their full assistance and kind cooperation.

At the same time, I would like to acknowledge the immense help provided by the Central Library of The University of Burdwan and the Central Library of the St. Xavier's College, Kolkata.

I have the clear confession that it is quite impossible for me to express any formal gratitude to my parents Shri Sibdas Karmakar (Retired Associate Professor of Mathematics) and Mrs. Sulata Karmakar and also my sister Sonali Karmakar without whose unstinted cooperation and painstaking efforts my thesis could have not been given a due shape. Especially, I want to acknowledge to my father Prof. Karmakar for his invaluable comments, suggestions and fruitful discussions on the thesis. Without his generous support and immense help in both technical and non-technical matters, this thesis would never be completed. Last but not the least I must acknowledge the debt for my cousins Mrs Manimala Roy and Mrs Soma Karmakar who have constantly inspired, encouraged and helped me. I am extremely grateful to them for their patient and listening and continuous support.

However, I am solely responsible for any errors and omissions in this thesis.
