First and foremost, I must record my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to my respected teacher, Dr. M.Q. Khan who has inspired me to undertake this project. All the words of thanks and acknowledgement will be inadequate to express the sincerity, meticulous care and concern that Dr. Khan has shown for the completion of this project. In spite of the geographical distance his concern, help and valuable suggestions have always helped me in transcending this barrier. It is needless to say that this project, perhaps, would not have seen the light of the day without his ungrudging help and co-operation.

Although innumerable problems had to be faced while collecting the materials, I must acknowledge with thanks the help of the Librarians of the CILRL Regional Centre, Lucknow and CILRL, Hyderabad for their help and co-operation.

Besides, I must acknowledge with thanks the sincere care taken by Mr. Aslam Khan in typing out this thesis. Last but not the least, I must express my gratitude to all my friends, well-wishers and family members for having inspired me all the time for the completion of the project.

ARUN KUMAR ROUTRAY