ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The investigator with a deep sense of gratitude acknowledges her profound indebtedness to honourable Dr. Jagannath Mohanty, Director, Academic, Staff College, Utkal University, a distinguished educationist with deep wisdom, unique personality in academic sphere, for his valuable, noble and constant guidance for the present thesis titled "Nutritional Status and Its Effect on Physical Development and Educational Achievement" without which the present study could not have seen the light of the day.

She also expresses her heart-felt gratitude to Dr. B. Ahmed, Asst. Professor, M.K.C.G. Medical College, Berhampur, who has much experience in the field of child health and nutrition by serving in different institutions in India and abroad. His valuable suggestions and sympathetic encouragement for the completion of this thesis is unforgettable.

The researcher can not forget the advise and suggestions given by Dr. M. Cassady, Nutritionist, Human Development Centre, Pune; Dr. N.S. Scrimshaw, Director Development Studies Division, UN University, Tokyo; Dr. P.S. Chari, M.S. University, Baroda, and Dr. Shafica A. Zaki, Cairo University, Egypt, at the initial stage of this mission for which the researcher remains obliged to them.

The Indian National Scientific Documentation Centre (INSDOC), New Delhi, has helped her by providing proper and valuable guidance by dint of their xeroxed copies of different studies in the field for which the researcher likes to convey her gratification to the Director, INSDOC, New Delhi.

She also equally acknowledges the help, cooperation and guidance of her father Dr. B.C. Pattanaik, M.B.B.S., Retd. Medical Officer (State level) with profound regard and gratitude.

Her family members deserve her regards and unqualified love for their encouragement and conviction to make this mission a success. Her deep acknowledgement goes to her brother-in-law, Dr. S.K. Das, M.B.B.S., for his cooperation.
She is thankful to the teachers of participating schools and parents of the samples who cooperated her in providing invaluable information with great patience in the fulfilment of aim of this study.

She also expresses her special gratitude and thanks to Dr. Chitta R. Samant, M.A., Ph.D., Director, Documentation and Information Processing Syndicate (DIPS), V.S.S. Nagar, Bhubaneswar, who has provided a tireless indispensable assistance in enriching this thesis with his expertise in statistical analysis in time and bringing out this thesis in an attractive shape at the cost of his most valuable professional hours.

Her deep love and compliments go to her friends and relatives for their cooperation and help.

Last but not the least, she gives credence to her elder sister Dr. (Ms.) P. Pattanaik, BHMS, for helping her in so many ways at the cost of her valuable time out of her busy professional hours.

The researcher can not forget the endurance of Sri Sarat K. Rath, who has patiently and carefully carried out the task of typing the thesis, and therefore would thank him profoundly.

(Anjali Pattanaik)

9/11/90