ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I take this privilege to express my heartiest thanks and immense gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Man Mohini Kaul, who lent her expertise to evaluate this manuscript. Her-in-depth and Sagacious advice enabled me to complete this manuscript. She always encouraged me to think constructively and motivated me to come up with innovative ideas. And more so, she moulded my thinking and taught me to appreciate the concepts and intricacies of disciplines of international relations. I am deeply indebted to her for her valuable guidance and support.

I am also highly grateful to Dr. Ganga Nath Jha for his encouragement and valuable inputs. He provided the correct direction to my Ph.D. research and in spite of his own hectic schedules always found time to guide me through his insightful inputs and constructive suggestions. There are, in fact, no words to express my gratefulness towards him.

I sincerely extend my acknowledgement and heartfelt thanks to Prof. Mahendra P. Lama, Chairperson of CSCSEASWPS/SIS for his cooperation in completion of this volume. I also thankfully acknowledge the other faculty members and staff members of my centre who were always willing to extend help at times of need.

I owe special indebtedness to Prof. R.K. Kale (Dean of Students, JNU) and Madam Rekha Kale for their constant support at every step of my academic pursuance.
Among the libraries, I wish to acknowledge the help rendered by the staff at JNU, Teen Murti, Indian Council of Historical Research (ICHR), Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR), Sapru House (ICWA), Institute for Defence Studies and Analyses (IDSA), National Archives, Shastri Bhawan (Department of Culture, Government of India, New Delhi), Khudabaksh Oriental Public Library (Patna), K.P. Jaiswal Research Institute (Patna Museum).

My thanks are also due to my friends Dr. Shiv. K. Verma, Vikas Ranjan, Manish Chiranjeev, Vir Narayan, Shiv Shakti and Vimal Anand for their timely help and suggestions. We had innumerable talks and discussions which helped me greatly to clear my own mind about the various aspects associated with the topic of my thesis. Their rightful suggestions and scrutinizations inspired me to complete this volume.

Alongwith the above mentioned friends, I wish to extend my gratitude to those eminent friends of different respective fields who have always been a source of inspiration and strength to pursue my academic endeavour and even now they keep on suggesting time to time.

I am extremely thankful to my mother, father-in-law, wife and brothers for their emotional and moral support, especially during testing times. I am very fortunate to have such a loving and supportive family. They always stand by me at all crucial junctures.

I would also like to thank the typist for his professional skill in typing the entire work with great enthusiasm.
In a work spanning a long duration, it is impossible to recall every person who has rendered their help to finish this work successfully. I apologise for not mentioning their names here. At the same time, I express my heartfelt thanks to them.

It may be possible that there could be some flaws in the presentation or in the composition of the text, for which the responsibility lies entirely on me.

New Delhi

Pankaj Kumar Sinha

Pankaj Kumar Sinha