ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I take this opportunity to express my profound sense of gratitude to Dr. Amarendra Tripathy, Professor and Head, Department of Extension Education, Orissa University of Agriculture and Technology, Bhubaneswar for his keen interest, valuable guidance and continued encouragement throughout the period of investigation and organization of this work. His affectionate dealing and generosity have gone much beyond the limits of formal student-teacher relationship for which I am deeply indebted to him.

I owe a special debt of gratitude to Capt. B. Mohanty, Ex-Principal, Ravenshaw College, Cuttack for having given permission to use the laboratory and library facilities of the college.

I am extremely grateful to all the housewives who responded freely to my long questionnaire, but for whose cooperation the study could not have been done.

I would like to convey my sincere thanks to the Head of Division, Agriculture Extension, I.A.R.I. New Delhi, Dean of Homescience, Haryana Agriculture University, Principal Lady Irawin College, Delhi, and the Director General, NIRD, Hyderabad for kindly permitting me to use their libraries.

I am also thankful to the Community Development and Rural Reconstruction Departments of the Government of Orissa for having given some basic data used in this study.

I owe a debt of gratitude to Mrs. Manisha Tripathy, wife of my guide, for her encouragement and affectionate treatment during the preparation of this dissertation.
Special appreciations are extended to my brother Robin Behera, for his help at appropriate time. My sisters, brother in-laws, brothers and sister in-laws have encouraged me and have helped in various ways for preparation of this work, for which I am indebted to them.

I convey my thanks to M/s. Documentation and Information Processing Syndicate, Bhubaneswar for undertaking typing and also giving a final shape to this dissertation.

Above all my mother Subarnamoni Dei who is no more with us and my father Shri Manatosh Behera are the fountain heads of all inspirations. Their wisdom and soul of courage have given me strength to take up this work.
