CONTENTS

Preface

Acknowledgements

List of Figures, Tables and Appendices

Chapters

Chapter One  THEORETICAL FRAMEWORK AND THE ROLE OF STATE ORGANS IN THE SOVIET POLITICAL SYSTEM.

1 The Theoretical Framework
   (i) Meaning of the Institution
   (ii) Functions of the Institution
   (iii) Institutionalism and the Theories of Instutionalism
   (iv) Institutional Change

II Role of the State Organs in the Soviet Political System
   – The Interrelation of Theory and Practice: Marxism as an Exclusive Ideology
   (i) Party Structure
   (ii) Soviet Federalism
   (iii) The Legislature
   (iv) Supreme Soviet
   (v) The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet
   (vi) The Executive
   (vii) Legal Apparatus

Chapter Two  THE RUSSIAN CONSTITUTION OF 1993 – A BRIEF OUTLINE OF THE EMERGING INSTITUTIONS

I The 19th Party Conference and the Context of Change in the Soviet Political Institutions
   (i) Empowerment of the Soviets
   (ii) The Fusion of the Party Secretaries
   (iii) New Legislative Organs
   (iv) Reorganizing the Party Apparatus
   (v) Electoral Reforms
   (vi) Legal Reforms

II Constitution of 1993: Emergence of New Institutions

Chapter Three  THE PRESIDENCY

I Debate on Presidentialism and Parliamentarism
II Post Communist Choices
III The Emergence of Presidential Government in the Post-Soviet Russia
IV Powers and Functions of the President under the Constitution of 1993
V Growth of Hegemonic Presidency in Russia
   – Russia at the End of Yeltsin Presidency
   – Putin's Ascendancy to Russia's Presidency
Chapter Four  THE PARLIAMENT

– The Role of Parliament in Democratization

I  Russia's Limited Parliamentary Experience
   (i) The Old Soviet System

II  Institution of Parliament in Russia
   – 1991-93

III  The Legislative Institution Under the Constitution of 1993

IV  Weaknesses of the Russian Legislature
   (i) Structural Weaknesses
   (ii) Procedural Weaknesses and the Relation Between the Chambers

V  Safeguards to the Russian Parliament
   (i) Party Discipline
   (ii) Legislative – Executive Relations

Chapter Five  LEGAL INSTITUTIONS

– Emergence of Market Economy and the Changing Legal Order

I  Law and Legal Institutions in the Soviet Period
   – The Concept of Law-Governed State
      (i) Constitutional Changes
      (ii) Relevant Statutory Developments
      (iii) The Reform of Economic Legislation
      (iv) The Reform of Criminal Law

II  Legal Institutions in 1991-98
   (i) Judicial System
      a. The State of Civil Law
      b. Criminal Law
   (ii) Judicial Independence and Judicial Power
      a. Judicial Selection
      b. Court Reorganization and Judicial Independence
      c. Revival of Jury System

III  The Constitutional Court
   (i) The Court's Legislative Mandate
   (ii) Working of the Constitutional Court: Major Decisions
      a. The KGB (ISS) - MVD Merger Decree
      b. The Tatarstan Referendum Case
      c. The CPSU Case
   (iii) The Decline of the First Constitutional Court
   (iv) The Constitutional Court Under the 1993 Constitution.
Chapter Six

EVOlUTION OF RUSSIA'S NEW FEDERAL STRUCTURE AND CENTRE-PERIPHERY RELATIONS

I  Soviet Legacy
(i) SovietCollapse: Impact on Emergence of Russia as an Independent State
(ii) Russia's Federal Structure at Independence

II  Democratisation, Marketisation and the Development of Federal, Political Institutions in the Post-Soviet Russia: 1990-98
(i) Regional Activism
(ii) October 1993 - Summer 1995: Russian Regionalism Subsided
(iii) Summer 1995 - Present: Regional Resurgence

III  Strengths and Weaknesses of the Russian Federal Structure
(i) Criticisms
   a. Excessive Powers for the Federal Government
   b. Excessive Powers for the Subjects
   c. Indeterminacy and Internal Contradictions
   d. Preservation of Russia's Internal Borders

IV  Challenges to the Federal Structure in Russia
(i) Troubled Fiscal Federal System
(ii) Unequal Treatment of the Federation's Constituent Units.
(iii) Lack of Penetration of National Political Institutions into the Periphery

CONCLUSION

BIBLIOGRAPHY

APPENDICES