ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I owe to the great number of people who have helped me on the work which forms this thesis. At the onset, I would like to thank my guide Dr Prasanta Kumar Saikia, Professor, Animal Ecology and Wildlife Biology, Department of Zoology, Gauhati University, who took me under his supervision and guided me throughout my research works.

I would like to thank the Head of Department of Zoology, Prof K. Dutta for providing the laboratory and other facility necessary for the work. I also extend my deep respects to all the faculty members of the Department for their valuable suggestions and advices throughout the course of my study. I would also like to extend my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. P.C. Bhattacharjee (Retd) for his constant advice and help throughout my research work.

I would like to extend my thanks to the Forest Department of Assam, specially the PCCF(WL) & Chief Wildlife Warden, Assam, S. Chand and Research officer Dr. Gopal Chetry for providing me the permission to conduct research on the chosen site. I also like to thank the DFO of Jorhat Wildlife Division, Mr Rajib Kumar Das for providing assistance during my course of work and I am indebted to Range officer, Mr Kailash Kumar Saikia, Beat officer, Mr Dipak Bordoloi and forest guards Mr Debeswar Dutta, Mr Sanjib Neog, Mr Sachin Kalita, Mr Shankar Nag and others for their help during my field surveys and other logistics in the field. Again, I would like to thank the University Grants Commission, New Delhi, India, for providing financial assistance under the Rajiv Gandhi National Fellowship Scheme for S.T. Candidates to my PhD research work.

I would like to thank R.N.Saha, AM – II for DDGM, Regional Meteorological Centre, Guwahati for providing me the much needed weather data (Rainfall, Humidity and Temperature) for three years from their weather station. I would like to give my deep sense of gratitude towards Dr. Mrs Malabika Kakoti Saikia for her generous help and suggestions during my entire work.
I would also like to thank my field assistants Mr Deben Borah, Mr Pradip Kalita and Mr Sagen Gonju for the memorable times in the field, without their dedication and interest, this work would have not been possible. I thank Mr Borah specially for providing me the local names of fruiting trees of the squirrels that are very useful information’s during data collection and plant identification.

I extend my deep gratitude to Mr Ajit Kalita, who provides shelter to me in his home that serves as our field station throughout the study period. I also thank Mr Kalita’s other family members specially his wife for her good food and generosity, whenever I landed unannounced and dirty from the field and his mother who stayed with me as a guardian in the house.

I would also like to extend my deep regards to my friends and colleagues of the Department of Zoology specially Dr Narayan Sharma, Dr Nabajit Das, Dr Jyotismita Das, Dr Oinam Sunanda Devi, Dr Bhrigu Prasad Saikia, Dr Majedul Islam, Dr Mayur Bawri, Dr S. Neli, Md Monsoor Ahmed, Mr Jaydev Mandal, Mr Anjan Sangma, Mrs Bhanita Deka, Mr Sadananda Nath and Mr Prabhat Chandra Sarma for their company, discussions and practical help in the field. I also like to thanks Dr Kuladip Sharma for his innumerable help with the statistical analysis and suggestions during data analysis. A very special thanks goes to Arup Kumar Das for his help during generation of distribution maps using Arc GIS Software.

Again, many people have helped me in different course of time during my work and while my acquaintance with some lasted less than a week, their help in difficult situations was invaluable. I cannot name all of them, but I would like to thank specially Dr Dilip Chetry, Professor Randall C. Kyes, Dr Kumud Ghosh who were working on their own projects in the area, for their invaluable advice and help during my field works.

Lastly, all this would not have been possible without the love, support and patience of my husband Dr Victor Das, my son Devarishi Das, my parents Mr Dilip Kumar Shyam, Mrs Minu Shyam, my brother Mr Vicky Shyam, mother-in-law Mrs Gauri Das, sister-in-law Dr Tulika Das and her husband Mr Hemonta Deuri Bharali, my grandparents Mr Laheswar Shyam and Mrs Naande Shyam, Mr Muhi Chandra Shyam and Mrs Daneeke Shyam, my uncles Mr Rajen Shyam, Mr Brojen Shyam, Late Binod Shyam, Mr Dhramen Shyam and Mr Kamal Shyam, Mr Gandheswar Borah and Mrs Bijoya Borah, Mr Tujen Shyam, Mr Babli Shyam and sister Dhamma. Without their support and encouragements, I won’t be able to complete the thesis and that has meant a lot, especially for my husband, son, my father, my mother, my brother, despite all their misgivings and worries about the kind of work I do!!!
