ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I put on record my deep sense of gratitude and sincere thanks to Professor R.R. Sharma for his guidance and advice. But for his help and critical remarks this thesis would not have been completed. I also acknowledge my gratitude to the faculty members of Soviet and East European Studies for helping me at various stages of my research.

I am grateful to Professor Moonis Raza whose inspiration and encouragement immensely benefited me in my work. I am also thankful to him for helping me in overcoming some bureaucratic wrangles to go to USSR for field work.

I greatly benefited from the views and suggestions of many Soviet scholars during my stay in Tajikistan. However, I owe special thanks to Academician M. Asimov, President Tajik Academy of Sciences. I also take this opportunity to put on record my gratitude to Prof. H.M. Saidmuradov and Prof. Kh. Umarov from the Institute of Economics of the Academy of Sciences, for sharing their ideas and views on the subject. This helped me in concretising my formulations.
I am thankful to Prof. Rakhat Nabiva, Head of the Department of Tajik History, Tajik State University, Dushanbe. Inspite of her busy schedule, she spared ample time for me to discuss the subject and helped in formulating my ideas.

I am also thankful to Mr. Z.K. Kurbanov, Dean of Foreign Students in Tajik State University. He assisted me by arranging finances and documents for my travel in Central Asia.

I wish to record my sincere gratitude to Elena Nicolaiovna and Ludmila Dimitrievna Fedrova for hours of patient assistance and guidance to overcome my language difficulties. It enabled me to go through Russian sources. I am specially thankful to Ludmila not only for academic help but also for looking after my personal requirements. Without her constant care and assistance my stay in Dushanbe would have not been fruitful.

I am grateful to the staff of Firdausy library in Dushanbe for making extremely useful research material available to me.

Finally, I am thankful to a host of guest-loving common Tajiks who not only shared their thoughts with me but also gave me an opportunity to peep into their home environment.
As for my indebtedness to my husband Dr. Harjit Singh goes, I can only say that without his encouragement I would have not thought of undertaking this work.

My sincere thanks are to the University Grants Commission and Maitreyi College for enabling me to visit USSR for six months to undertake field survey. I thank the Indian Council of Historical Research for giving me research grant to acquire research material and to get the manuscript typed.

My thanks are also due to Sh. A.K. Talwar for typing the script of this thesis.

Lastly I am thankful to my sons, Rajat and Aman, who provided much needed distractions during the course of this work.

Needless to add that I alone am responsible for the views and errors.

July, 1989

(PREM LATA)