ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I sincerely thank the workers of HMT who reacted and reflected on various issues. They form the major point of view of this thesis.

Behind all the activity, Prof. Aurora was the guiding spirit and I convey my gratitude to him for making me acquainted with the research process. I will cherish the memories of my association with him for a lifetime. In a conflict of ideas, he always showed the way of academic objectivity. His grasp of the subject and the power of his abstraction have widened the scope of my thinking. Inspite of being the Dean, School of Social Sciences, Head, Department of Sociology, he always spared time for discussions. I thank him with deep respect.

Dr. Uma Ramaswamy initiated me into the subject and I owe no small debt to her. I thank her for the exposure I gained in the area of industrial relations, she devised a systematic course-work for M.Phil and the training will always help me.

The faculty of the Department of Sociology and friends in the University of Hyderabad contributed to the making of what I am. I thank them.

I thank my mother and sisters Jaya, Jyothi & Naga with love.

Finally, I thank Mr. Mohd. Younus, Mr. Syed Gulam Yazdani and Mr. Mohd. Shahabuddin for typing the thesis with care.
