TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgement v
Introduction 1
1. Problems of Personal Identity: Different Philosophical Approaches 13
   1.1. What Is Personal Identity? 14
   1.2. Philosophical Problems Surrounding Personal Identity 16
   1.3. Different Criteria of Personal Identity 18
      1.3.1. Bodily Continuity Criteria 19
      1.3.2. Memory Continuity Criteria 28
      1.3.3. Advanced Psychological Continuity Criteria 47
2. Self, Person And I 67
   2.1. The Concept of Self In Philosophy 68
   2.2. The Concept of Person In Philosophy 76
   2.3. Different Aspects of I 95
3. Two Aspects of The Nature of Persons 113
   3.1. Persons And Substances 115
      3.1.1. What Is A Substance? 115
      3.1.2. Reductionism, Anti-Reductionism 118
         3.1.2.1. The Antireductionist/Non-Reductionist Picture of Persons and Substances 120
         3.1.2.2. The Reductionist Picture of Persons and Substances 125
   3.2. Self-Knowledge 144
      3.2.1. The Proper Name Theory 146
      3.2.2. The Disguised Description Theory 153
      3.2.3. The Logical Construction Theory 156
4. Conclusion: The Relationship Between Nature and Identity 165
   4.1. Does Nature of A Person Determine The Identity of That Person? 170
   4.2. Does Nature Presuppose The Identity of A Person? 175
   4.3. Identity And Nature of Persons: Unexplored Aspects 183
Bibliography 197