ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The journey to become a researcher is one of the most enriching experiences of my life. The intellectual growth and the complete picture of this journey, however, could not possibly be achieved without the motivation from many people from every sphere of life. I owe my gratitude to all the people whose criticism and encouragements had shaped this important journey of my life.

First, I wish to thank my supervisor Romana Ishrat, who gave me the much freedom to explore. She has supported me not only through assisting to my research works, but also by providing constant moral support through the rough road in completing my research. Also especial thanks for her invaluable guidance, support, discussion, patience, dedication and encouragement during the study. Without her constant guidance, I could not have finished my thesis.

I express my sincere and deepest gratitude to my co-supervisor R. K. Brojen Singh, whose enormous amount of motivation and teaching on how to do research profoundly influence my way of thinking about the subject of my thesis and also about the concept of research as a whole. He taught me the art of questioning thoughts and express ideas in research and he has been always there to listen and give advice. His patience, enthusiasm and immense knowledge helped me to overcome many crisis situations and accomplish my research works and also this thesis. His every criticism in details to my reports had constructive roles during my research journey.

I am grateful to the Centre for Interdisciplinary Research in Basic Sciences (CIRBSSc), my host institution, for all the resources provided. Especially, I would like to thank Prof. Shafeeqe Ahmed Ansari director of CIRBSSc, for his kind help and advice.

Special thanks to Prof. Zubaida Ansari, the former director of CIRBSSc, for her valuable advices and discussions during my research. I shall never forget her teaching, encouragement, care and love towards me. She was always beside me whenever I needed her.

I am thankful to Prof. Pankaj Sharan, the former director, for providing me all the necessary facilities in the centre during the course of this work.

I am very much grateful to Prof. Faizan Ahmad, former director, CIRBSc for their teaching and guidance which helped in my research work.

I would like to express my gratitude to thank Prof. Sher Ali for his kind help and advice as a teacher and friend to me.

I also wish to thank all the teachers for their teachings during the first year of coursework that gave me the important foundation for the interdisciplinary research and its ethics. It is my pleasure to thank Dr. Syed Naqui Kazim, Dr.
Intiyaz Hasan, Dr. Shama Parveen, Dr. Asimul Islam, Dr. Rajan Patel, Dr.
Ravins, Dr. Sonu Chand Thakur, Dr. Fareeda Athar and Dr. Najmul Arfin in CIRBSc for their valuable advice and encouragement.

Grateful acknowledgement goes to School of Computational and Integrative Sciences (SC&IS), Jawaharlal Nehru University for the valuable resources provided at various stages of this research work. I would like to thank to faculty and non -teaching staff of SC&IS for their help and co-operative behavior.

I am grateful to office Staffs, Mr. Mukesh, Mr. Attiullah and Mr. Rustam for their immense help.

I also wish to thank my colleagues Shahnawaz Ali, Aftab Khan, Soibam Shyamchand Singh, Bilal Ahmed Ahanger, Mazharul Haque, Zafar yab, Wahiduzzzaman, Upendra Kumar Singh, Dr. Amit Kumar, Abdullah Nayer, Md. Shamim
Reyaz, Naushad Khan, Abrar Ahmad Siddiqui, Munazzah Tasleem, Murshad Ahmed, Anam Farooqui and Safia Tazyeen at CIRBSc; and Jasleen Gundh, Di-neshchandra Haobijam, Kailash Chirom, Sourav Mandal, Shakti Nath and Sourav Sharma at SC&IS, who have all been of amazing help during many stages of my research. I greatly value the convivial atmosphere with vibrant discussions, at many times and deeply appreciate their belief in me.

It has been an absolute pleasure to Md. Jahoor Alam who timely help me in lab work and constructive discussions during the study.

Mr. Shahnawaz Ali was very kind in reviewing some parts of this thesis and I appreciate their criticism and suggestions that help me in improving the thesis he was always ready to help. It is difficult to find words to express my gratitude for his valuable love, support, suggestion, brotherhood and the time he spent with me during my research.

I would extend my pleasant thanks to my M.Sc. batchmates Fauzul Moeen (present working in IIT Mandi), Faez Iqbal Khan (present working in Rhodes University, South Africa) and Md. Badruzzaman for their care and continuous encouragement that helped me during the writing of this thesis.

I express my warmest gratitude to all those people whose supports and encouragements helped me in my high and low times during my research. Some of which I confess that I might have forgotten to mention during the time of writing this acknowledgement, but I appreciate their contributions in accomplishing my research works and in the preparation of my thesis. I therefore sincerely make an apology for those people whose names I forget to mention above.

I am forever grateful to my brothers and sisters for their love and support and for always being there for me in happy and difficult times. I am indebted to my childhood teacher and elder brother Mr. Zakir Hussain for continuous love, support and encouragement in every endeavor of my life.

I thank to my younger brother Md. Zahur Alam for support during my studies and this thesis in particular.

I would like to thank UGC for providing me fellowship under UGC NON-NET fellowship scheme. I also gratefully acknowledge the financial supports provided by Indian Council of Medical Research under Senior Research Fellow.

Finally, I wish to thank my parents for the values of life they have taught to me and for believing in me, which is a constant source of inspiration in every endeavor of my life, including this research work.

Md. Zubbair Malik
CIRBSc, Jamia Millia Islamia
New Delhi-110025