BIBLIOGRAPHY

Barling, Julian and Catherine Loughlin, (2001). Young workers' work values, attitudes, and behaviours. Journal of Occupational and Organizational Psychology. 74 (e.g. 2).

Burke, Ronald J. and Eddy S.W. Ng. (2006). The Next Generation at Work – business students’ views, values and job search strategy; Implications for universities and employers. Education + Training. 48 (7).

Corporate Leadership Council August 2004. “Generation X and Y Employees” literature key findings. www.corporateleadershipcouncil.com,

Corporate Leadership Council June 2005. “HR Considerations for Engaging Generation Y Employees” literature key findings. www.corporateleadershipcouncil.com,

Hicks, Rich, and Kathy Hicks1999). Boomers, Xers, and Other Strangers: Understanding the Generational Differences That Divide Us. (Wheaton, IL: Tyndale House Publishers,

Murphy, S. (2007). Leading a multigenerational workforce. Published by AARP, Washington, D.C.

