ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis would not have been complete without the support and encouragement of numerous people. First and foremost, I would like to express my sincere thanks to my supervisor Dr. Salvin Paul without his constant support and guidance this work would not be able to come into shaped. His immense knowledge, patience and enthusiasm helped me all the time in research and writing this thesis.

Beside my supervisor I would like to express my gratitude to the faculty members of the Department of Peace and Conflict Studies and Management Dr. Nawal K. Paswan (Associate Professor and Head of the Department) and Dr. Sanghamitra Choudhury, Assistant Professor for their encouragement, motivation and thought-provocative comments.

A special thank goes to UGC for providing NET-JRF/SRF, it immensely helped me to conduct this research. I would also like to thank to Finance Department of Sikkim University especially, Hishay and Doma for disbursing fellowship and they never allowed me to face any difficulty in sorting out my research.

I am deeply indebted to various libraries that allowed me to access their valuable resources. The success behind this research was made possible by the cooperation of Liberians and staff of various libraries. Foremost, I especially obliged to Sikkim University Library for providing me access to books, journals, newspapers, online articles and other relevant sources. I am also grateful to other libraries for the extraordinary collection of resources relating to my topic: the Nehru Memorial Library, Libraries of JNU, Library of Indian Law Institute, Libraries of Delhi University, Library of Namgyal Institute of Tibetology and State Library of Sikkim.

There are many eminent persons and friends who helped me in this entire journey through their valuable suggestions. I am owed to B. M Tamang Law Department of Sikkim with whom I collected important documents regarding my topic. Special thank also goes to P.M. Sorel, Dr. Satyabrat Sinha, Rajendra Prasad, Dr. Sebastian N, Dr. Teiborlang K, and Ph. Newton Singh. I also grateful to my batch-mate Diki, Bitu, Jayanta and Aswant whose academic and moral support always inspired me to engage in this work.

I would like to mention those with whom I collected my field data: Diki Bhutia, Maheema Rai and Nimkit Lepcha,-inspite of their busy schedule they provided their precious time. An expression of gratitude also goes to respondents who shared their valuable information and ideas which immensely helpful in my research.

My family has been a source of immense support, love, patience and inspiration and I am highly grateful to all of them. I dedicate this thesis to my Aama Hansha Kumari Rai, Papa Harka Bahadur Rai and all my brothers and sisters. Your prayer and perseverance was sustained me so far.

Finally, I would like to thank my almighty God, for letting me to go through all the difficulties in my entire journey.

Sanita Rai
October 2016