ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In a sense, a dissertation could be likened to a long and tedious journey. On looking back, I do recognise that I could not have travelled the journey without the help of others.

No extent of portrayal, in words or deeds, would suffice to adequately express my gratitude to Dr. S. SUDALAIMUTHU, Reader, Department of Corporate Secretaryship, Alagappa University, Karaikudi, who has been a constant source of inspiration and whose most able guidance can only be matched by his sustained encouragement and infinite patience in making this endeavour, a reality. I deem it a pleasure and privilege to work under his supervision and but for his clear direction, depth of analysis of issues and tremendous patience, I could not have ventured on and come out successfully.

I am grateful to Dr. R. NEELAMEGAM, Professor and Head of the Department of Corporate Secretaryship, Alagappa University, for permitting me to undergo part-time Ph.D. Programme in the department and also for his constant words of encouragement to complete the dissertation successfully.

I wish to record my sincere thanks to Dr. M. RANGANATHAM, Reader, Department of Commerce, University of Madras for sparing countless hours, patiently listening to me and offering valuable suggestions to bring perfection to the thesis.
I am deeply grateful to Dr. R. Madhumathi, Senior Educational Officer, Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, New Delhi, for her timely help in processing the statistical data analysis of the thesis.

I am very much indebted to my learned colleague Mr. Ramesh Kumar, for showing me a right direction to project a conceptual focus on this study.

My sincere gratitude to Mr. Ramakrishnan, Assistant Librarian, Indian Institute of Technology, Madras, for getting permission to make use of IIT library facilities.

I thank the organisations and their executives for their help in my field work. Without them this work would not have been accomplished. In this respect, my special thanks are due to the following persons who personally helped me in approaching corporate organisations for data collection.

1. Mr. G. Narayanan - Vice President, Legal and Company Secretary, Sanmar Electronic Corporation Ltd., Madras.

2. Mr. N. Parthan - Regional Manager, Projects and Power Plants, Wartsila Diesel India Ltd., Madras.

3. Mr. V. Vedagiri - Company Secretary, Pentafour Software & Exports Ltd. Madras.

4. Mr. V. Vasudevan - P.A. to Company Secretary, Ponds India Ltd., Madras.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>No.</th>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Position/Title</th>
<th>Company/Institution</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5.</td>
<td>Mr. R. Kumar</td>
<td>Business Development Manager</td>
<td>Madras Rubber Products Ambathur, Madras.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7.</td>
<td>Mr. R. Santhana Krishnan</td>
<td>Chief Manager, (Admin, &amp; HRD)</td>
<td>Tamil Nadu News Print and Papers Ltd., Karur, Tamil Nadu.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.</td>
<td>Dr. S.B. Rao</td>
<td>Principal, Management Development Centre</td>
<td>Southern Petro Chemicals Industries Ltd., Madras.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

I wish to thank the authorities of Alagappa University, Karaikudi, for granting me permission to undergo part-time P.h.d. Programme in the Department of Corporate Secretaryship.

My sincere thanks to the Management of D.B.Jain College, Principal and my colleagues for the moral support and encouragement accorded to me during the course of my study.

For the immense patience and care that Mr. A. Ganesan evinced in typing the thesis through computer word processing, I am thankful.

Perhaps I should remain silent, as no words can fully convey what I feel in the very depth of my soul for these wonderful people, that includes naturally my family too.

(K. SANKARAN)