ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A journey begins with a single step ... since the initial steps in my doctoral foray, I have travelled through paths that have broadened my vision and enriched my perspectives. I’d like to thank the following facilitators in my endeavour:

My revered research guide and supervisor, Dr. B. Regina Papa, Former Director and Head, Department of Women’s Studies, Alagappa University, for her insightful and erudite guidance during the tenure of my research. Through precept and example, she highlighted the interpenetration of Women’s Studies and life in subtle and obvious ways. She enabled me to persist with the research despite my disruptive health crisis.

Dr. R. Dandapani, Registrar, Alagappa University, for his support and encouragement.

The staff of SCILET (Study Centre for Indian Literature in English and Translation), The American College, Madurai; and AIRC (American Information Resource Centre), USIS, Chennai, for permission to use their library and helping me access relevant material for my research.

Dr. T.R. Murali, my husband, for being supportive of my academic and creative aspirations.

Bhuvaneshwari Venkatesh, my sister-in-law, for her perceptive editing of the thesis.
Dr. P. Ramamoorthi, Department of Performing Arts, Madurai Kamaraj University; Dr. R. Sudha, Department of French, Madurai Kamaraj University; and Dr. Rachel Barnabas, Department of English, Lady Doak College, Madurai, for their suggestions and advice.

D. Kumar, Sri Meenakshi Computer Services, Palkalai Nagar, Madurai, for typesetting the thesis.

My parents, in-laws, friends, and members of my household for cheering me all the way to the goal post.

Goldie, my Golden Retriever, for her silent companionship during the long hours of writing.

Like Bharati Mukherjee’s immigrant women, my journey too has been transformative.
