ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am blessed and honoured to work under the guidance of my revered supervisor Late Prof Dr. A. Namasivayam. Any word cannot satisfy the sense of my gratefulness towards him, who introduced me to the challenging area of research, taught me, encouraged me, moulded me and left me unseeing the shape. With respectful salutations, I offer him my profound gratitude and indebtedness for inculcating in me the urge for research, for building up confidence in me to pursue the study, for the invaluable guidance and encouragement throughout my research work. I dedicate this work to my Professor who thrived to complete the study till his last breath. I am sure his blessings from heaven do guide me in a right path.

To my esteemed teacher and guide Dr. R. Sheela Devi, M.Sc., M. Phil., Ph.D., Lecturer, Department of Physiology, Dr. A.L.M. Post Graduate Institute of Basic Medical Sciences, University of Madras, I am extremely grateful for her invaluable suggestions, and kind support. She has been a constant source of encouragement and guidance especially during the later part of my research work after my beloved Professor Dr. A. Namasivayam.

I am thankful to Prof. N. Suthanthirarajan, M.Sc., Ph.D., Head, Dept. of Physiology, Dr. ALM. PG IBMS, for his interest and invaluable advise during the course of the study.

I am thankful to Prof. R. Muthusamy M.Sc., Ph.D., Director, Dr. ALM. PG IBMS, for providing me the institutional facilities to carry out the study.

I am grateful to Late Dr P.R.Mahadevan, Former Director General, Malladi Drugs and Pharmaceutical Ltd, Chennai who permitted and encouraged me to register this work as my Ph.D program.
It gives me great pleasure to thank Dr. S. Suresh Babu, Group Leader, Malladi Drugs and Pharmaceutical Ltd, Chennai who initiated the program and supported me at all levels to complete this work. I also thank his colleagues Mrs. Uma R.N. Kumar and Mr. R. Chandrasekar, for their continued co-operation and contributions to the study.

My special thanks are due to Prof. M. Micheal Aruldas, Head, Dept. of Endocrinology, Dr. ALM PG IBMS, for providing me lab facilities to carry out this study. I owe my sincere thanks to Prof. K. Balasubramanian, Dept. of Endocrinology, Dr. ALM PG IBMS, for his advice and help in the radio iiodination procedures.

I am thankful to Prof. S. Venkataraman, Former Dean, University Industrial community Interactive Center, University of Madras and his staff members for the help and coordination given for the entire duration of the project.

I am grateful to Prof. P. Shanthi, Dept. of Pathology, Dr. ALM PG IBMS, for her invaluable advise in designing haematological experiments.

I owe my thanks to Dr. G. Jayaraman, Reader, Dept. of Genetics, Dr. A.L.M PG. IMBS, University of Madras, for his useful suggestions in radioiodination procedures and radioautography.

I am thankful to Mr. R. Ravindran, M.Sc., Lecturer, Dept. of Physiology, Dr. ALM. PG IBMS, for his valuable advise and help.

I extend my profound thanks to Prof. R.Venkata Krishnamurali, Dept. of Pharmacology, Dr. ALM. PG IBMS, Mrs. M. Nappinna, Asst Professor, Dept. of Pharmacetics, C L Baid Mehta College of Pharmacy, Chennai, and Prof. S.R. Srinivasan, Director, Department of Veterinary Clinical Medicine Ethics, and Jurisprudent, Madras Veterinary College for their invaluable advise and guidance in compiling the pharmacokinetic studies in this work and animal statistics.
My sincere thanks are due to Dr. B. Dare, veterinary consultant and to the staff members of the Animal House, Mr. Purusothaman and Mr. Balaguruiah, Dr. ALM. PG IBMS, for procuring and maintaining the animals required for my work.

I express my heartfelt thanks to my fellow research scholars, post graduate students and the non teaching staffs of Dept. of Physiology and all my other friends for having provided me a congenial and salubrious atmosphere and rendering assistance in many ways.

I wish to place on record my thanks to Malladi Drugs and Pharmaceutical Limited, Chennai for the financial assistance and continued supply of drug for this study.

I am immensely pleased to thank my parents for withstanding the difficulties and problems as a result of my involvement in the research project and being of constant support and encouragement throughout the study.

My special word of thanks to my Wife Mrs. Shoba and my daughter Ms. Pooja Lakshmi for their immense affection, patience and constant encouragement and moral support, without which the work could have not been successfully completed.

(B.R.SENTHIL KUMAR)