ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Individual effort is the key to success. However, in a society where each individual is a link in a chain surrounded by well-wishers, it is impossible to credit all success to the individual. No task is complete without the blessings of the divine power and the environment of positivity created through combined force of blessings coming from family and friends. I was lucky to have, not one, but many people who provided vigor, perseverance, and courage during the course of my endeavor. I would like to express my deepest appreciation to everyone who provided me the opportunity to culminate this research project.

First and foremost, earnest gratefulness and thanks to my advisor and teacher Professor Dr. Archana R. Singh, who, with her aspiring guidance, continuous support & encouragement, invaluable constructive criticism and friendly advice made this tread successful. Thank you ma’am for not just encouraging this research but also allowing me to grow as a researcher. I could not have imagined having a better advisor and guide other than you. Your advice on both research front as well as on my personal development have been priceless. Without your supervision and constant guidance, this research project would not have been possible.

I sincerely appreciate the guidance, comments and advices provided by all the teachers, professors, panels and staff at the Panjab University, Chandigargh, whose passion for underlying structures and eye for details had a lasting effect on this project. Thank you for your co-operative & healthy attitude, time, and valuable assistance that served as a great way for my learning and professional development, both theoretically and practically. I was able to leverage on the direction, experience and guidance you offered that was needed to execute the research project.

I have profound appreciation and obligation for my department ‘School of Communication Studies, Panjab University’ which has been instrumental in my life since the beginning of 2007, first as a Post Graduate student and later as a Research Scholar. My unbounded love for you will never end, as you have demonstrated to me that it is the alma mater that makes a student. Thank you for providing me with the facilities and conductive conditions required for my research project under the aegis of University Grants Commission.
A special thanks to Mr. Jayanth Narayan Pethkar, Chairperson, School of Communication Studies, Panjab University, who showed the attitude and substance of a genius, as he continually and persuasively conveyed a spirit of adventure in regard to research and an excitement in regard to teaching.

I am sincerely grateful to my colleagues and fellow research scholars of School of Communication Studies, especially the members of our research group: Bidyarani Asem, Mukesh Kumar, Siddharth Negi and Sahil Koul for sharing their truthful and illuminating views on a number of issues related to the research. Thank you all for your brilliant comments and suggestions. Your constant contribution in stimulating suggestions and encouragement helped me to coordinate my project.

Also, I would like to thank all the participants in my survey, who have willingly shared their precious time and knowledge during the process of questioning. Without your succor, this research project would not have been possible.

It is my radiant sentiment to place on record my best regards and deepest sense of gratitude to my family. Words cannot express how grateful I am to my parents-in-laws- Mr. V. K. Mehta and Mrs. Kanchan Mehta, to my parents- Mr. K. M. Markanda and Mrs. Anjali Markanda, along with my brother Raghav and sister Ritika, for all of the sacrifices they have made on my behalf, providing a congenial environment in the times of anxiety and nervousness. Your prayers are what has sustained me thus far. I am grateful for your love forever.

I would choose this moment to express my heartfelt thanks and appreciation to my beloved husband, Vikram, who was always my backing in moments and times of need. It was due to his love, kindness and support that this research project was accomplished.

I would also like to thank all my friends, near and dear ones who supported me in writing, and motivated me to strive towards my goal. Thank you everyone. I am indebted to you all.
